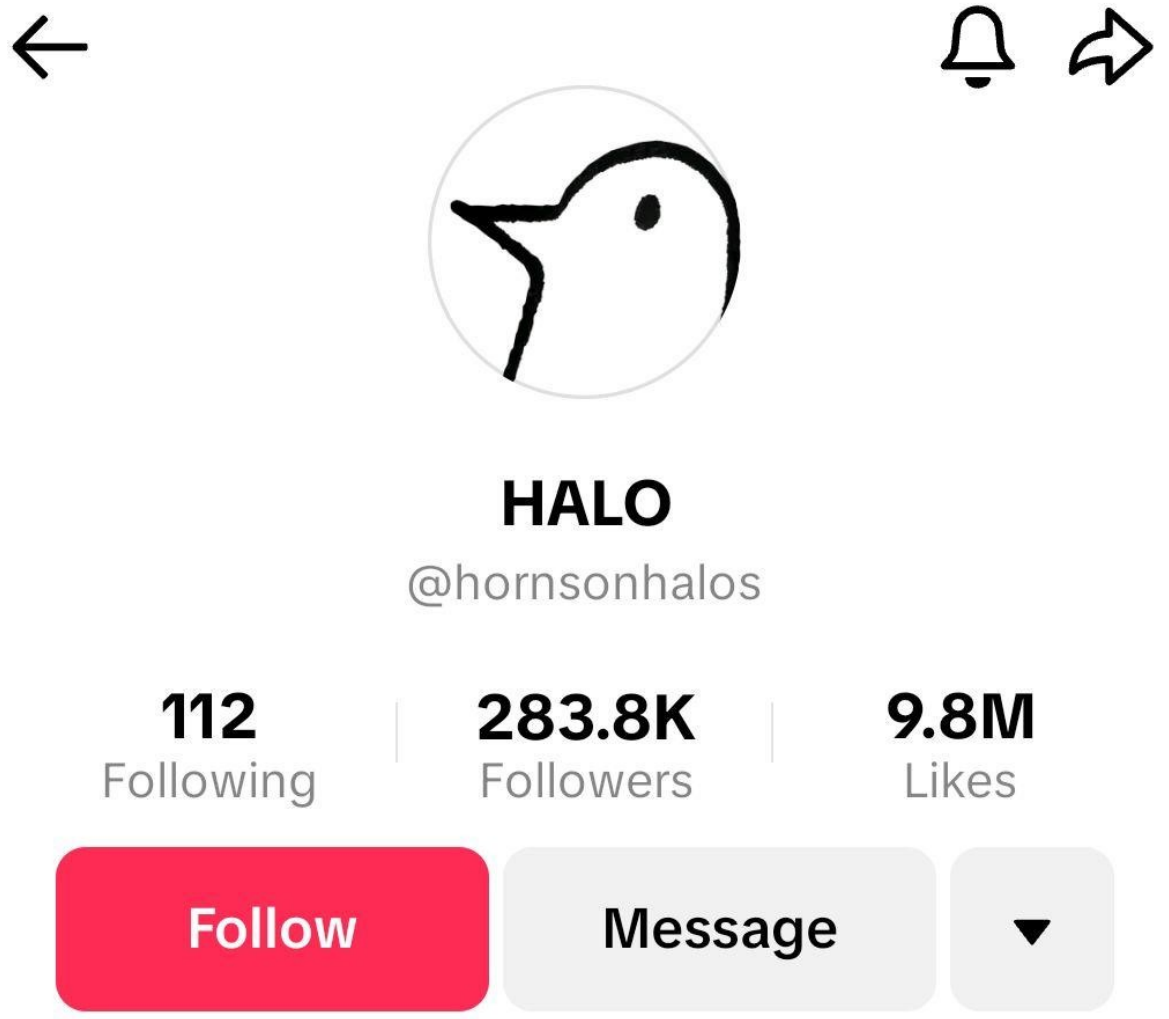
Hornsonhalos/ Azhero document

Content Warnings ⚠: Sexual harassment, grooming, predatory behavior, violent threats, talks of school shootings, ableism, and homophobia

Lance is his irl name and I will be using it for the remainder of the doc due to him having multiple usernames.



(His Insta and Tiktok in case you don't know his @s)

I address his doxxing near the bottom of the doc.
(To add if you have been a victim of his please contact the Royalsnis Twitter account.)

Introduction:

I first discovered Lance on Tiktok around the summer of 2023 and felt mildly uncomfortable with his comics. Not long after I discovered Lance, he posted an extremely homophobic comic, and I knew I had to speak on it due to its nasty messaging.
After I posted my own response on Instagram, I also contacted Lance directly to speak. He acted childish the entire time and only replied to me in order to ask me to take down my response. (I will get into a deeper explanation of this interaction during the “Halo’s responses” section).

I said no, the conversation went nowhere, I blocked him for technically lying to me, and since then I had been given updates on his toxic behavior, including actual victims, ever since.

Sexually predatory behavior:

Lance has a long history of inappropriate and down right nasty behavior with the women around him. This section compiles the convos that have been shared publicly to me.
December 2025 Update: It has been confirmed he has also groomed two minors into sexual relationships along with sexually assaulting a 19 year old just this month. (Sadly her testimony had to be removed as she asked but he did assault someone, making the situation with new possible victims that much more terrifying.)

Lance is 25 and his birthday is November 1st 1999. This is important to distinguish the age difference between him and the girls/femmes he interacted with.

Also Lance has admitted directly to deleting "anything any everything" he can from people, so there is a clear reason why many of the victims struggle to find his account, messages, and whatever else he could've deleted. This in general is really odd behavior.

To keep this organized we will go from earliest to newest accusations and why what he's done was wrong.

I used to be friends with him on g+ when I was 14, (2017) and he was awful to me. He would comment on my posts of myself complimenting me in a weird way- like borderline flirting or mentioning my body (talking to a 14 year old when he was 18) and he had a private snapchat that me and my friends my age were on where he would post full graphic porn or videos of women nude, and be like "wish this were me" "mood". There was a situation where I was friends with this one girl that was older than me as well and closer to him in age, and she bullied me and he just dipped and said he didn't want to get involved because he liked her as an artist. Also- there were times me and my best friend were on call with him (we were 14-15, so it was maybe 2017 or 2018) and he would self deprecate and fish for compliments and we would obviously try to comfort him (I have screenshots of the video call)

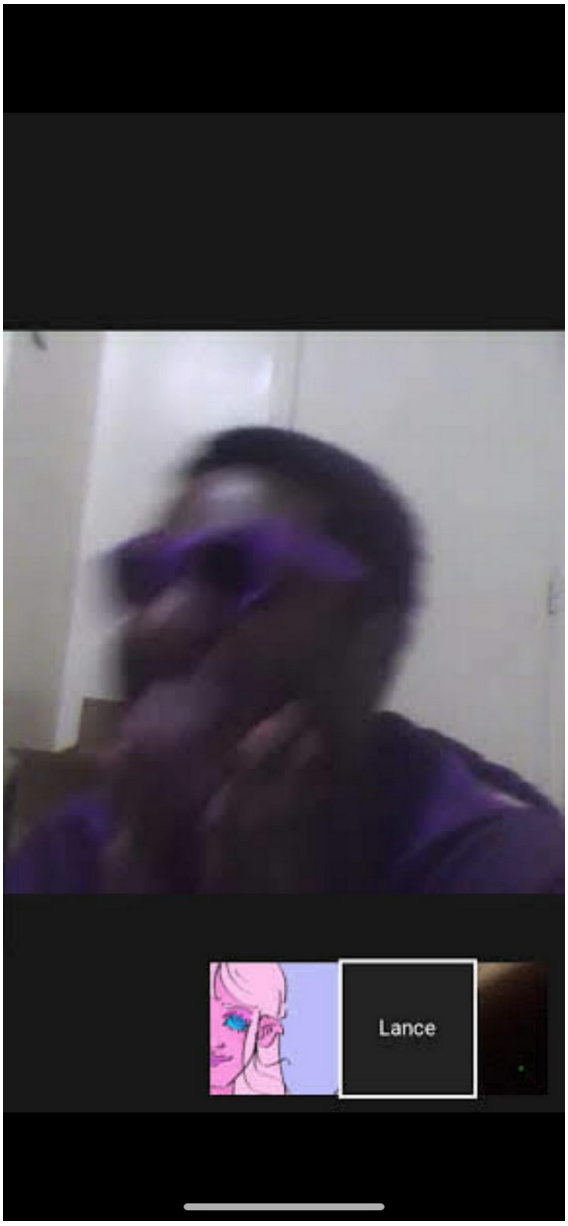
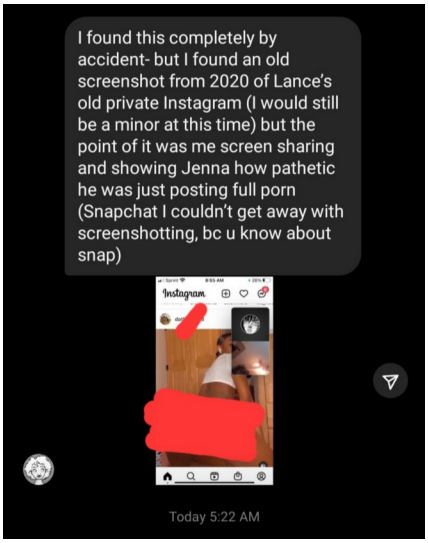
Moon is one of Lance's very old friends from when he used G+. As they explain here, Lance was extremely inappropriate with them for their age gap (which was four years). They were also not the only underaged individual in that chat and while yes, Lance was only 18, he was still several years older than these people and should've understood what he was doing was inappropriate.



Lance



I found this completely by accident- but I found an old screenshot from 2020 of Lance's old private Instagram (I would still be a minor at this time) but the point of it was me screen sharing and showing Jenna how pathetic he was just posting full porn (Snapchat I couldn't get away with screenshotting, bc u know about snap)

Today 5:22 AM

The images above are from calls they were into together to further prove that they were in fact, in contact with him. The last image shows how little regard he had for the inappropriate things he regularly shared with them.

So luckily for us, Moon was able to find some new photo evidence to further support their claims.

(Something related to Valentines day here where he asked his friends, who were underaged, about sending their personas so he can draw himself being very romantic with them. Again, really inappropriate to try to request of individuals he knows are much younger than him.)

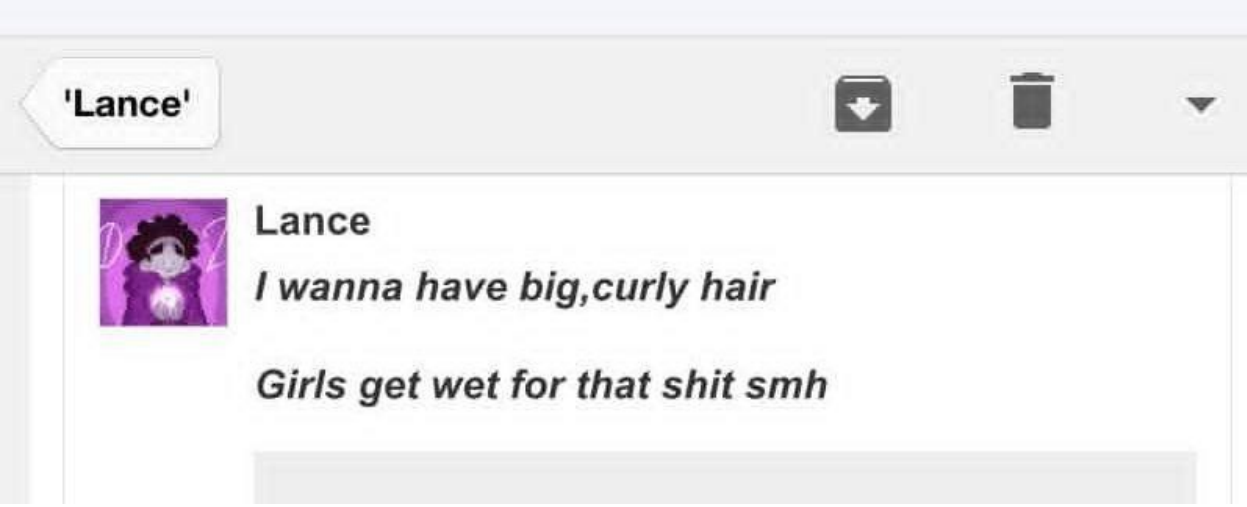
Hhhhhhhhhhh, it's okayyyyyy, she's like, a memist and stuff, I'm kinda all around with what I do
And most important she's a girl, it's common for them to get more attention than I guy would, so hush and stay pretty Hannah >:0
View post

(Thought I'd add this one because it feels misogynistic in my eyes- hush and stay pretty? No idea why that would be important for a 14 year old artist.)



(And an example of him being casually sexual knowing his minor friends are obviously going to see this.)

As a reminder, G+ no longer exists so these were about all they could find. There were many comments, replies, and casual convos not recorded because the emails only show when Lance directly responded/ pinged Moon.

While I believe the victim's full testimony, I want this to be known when/if Lance responds again.

A second victim has contacted me and it turns out Lance was also flirtatious with this child as well but also very sexual. From the messages I was shown, it seems either Lance thought the two were in some sort of relationship or really wanted to be in a relationship with them.
As stated to me, they claimed to be 14 to Lance (who was 18 at the time) but was actually 12 years old. This is important to note because they sent explicit images to him. So, ALLEGALLY Lance once held csem of a 12 year old.

This is VERY illegal if true.

just him being a weird tho
Okay so, it was almost all in 2018, but i think i've might've found his Account a bit earlier in late 2017, i used to post art and other stuff on g+ and he obviously used to too, i commented a bunch of his stuff until he ended up commenting on a selfie calling me cute, got into contact after through snap and as far as i remember he asked me first even though imo i was clearly a child, i genuinely think he did this stuff specifically on Snap because i do remember seeing him publicly give it out a lot to girls
It all just continued with basic flirting between us but i do remember having opened up about a lot of stuff like being a grooming victim before this, his compliments towards me just ended up becoming more and more horny until he flat out just asked for nudes ending up pressuring me until i said yes because of like the basic blue balls excuse guys use sometimes i might have him on snap still let me

Here is their testimony, they originally sent it to Amo cat for reference, then sent the conversation to me.
At the moment they have not been able to find the more overtly sexual conversations with Lance but are still looking, for the meantime they have given me images of him being very flirtatious with the minor.

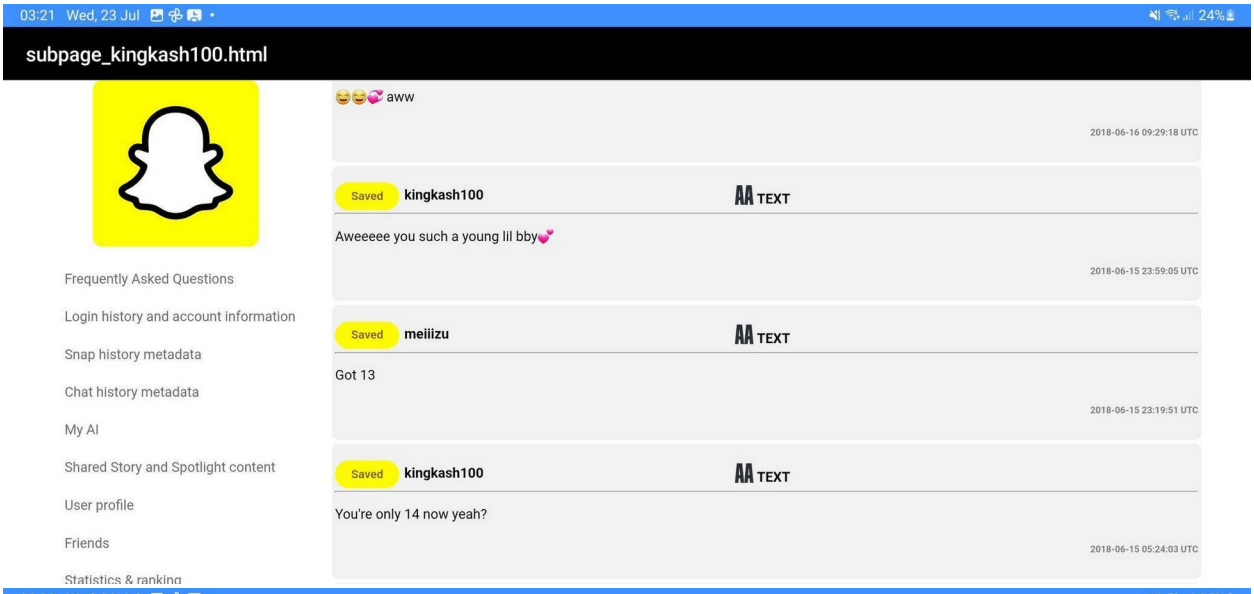
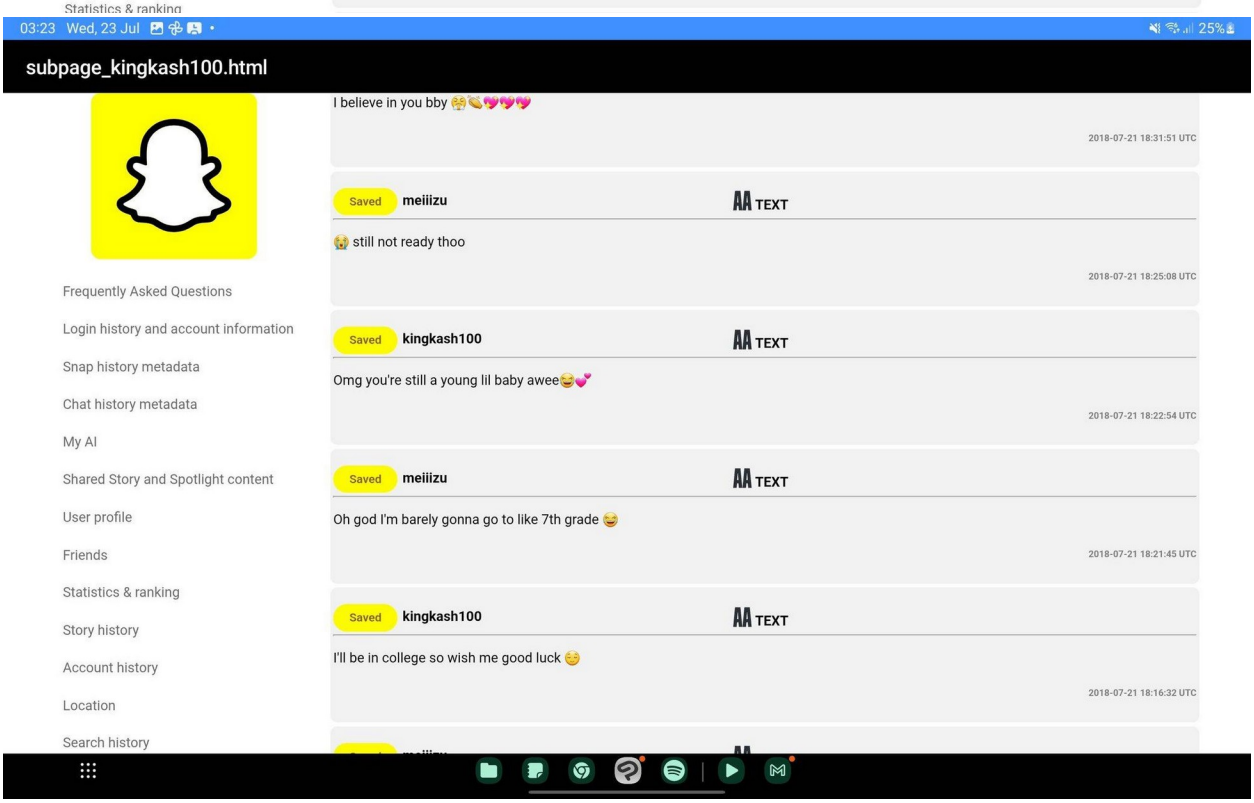
The last few images will be examples of Lance knowing, and mentioning that he knows the Minor's age. This is an important distinction in case Lance tries to claim he had no idea.





(So they claim to be just now entering 7th grade but 7th graders aren't usually 14, they're younger. Lance never picked up or looked further into this. He just didn't care. Also- them going to 7th grade and him to college? GROSS.)

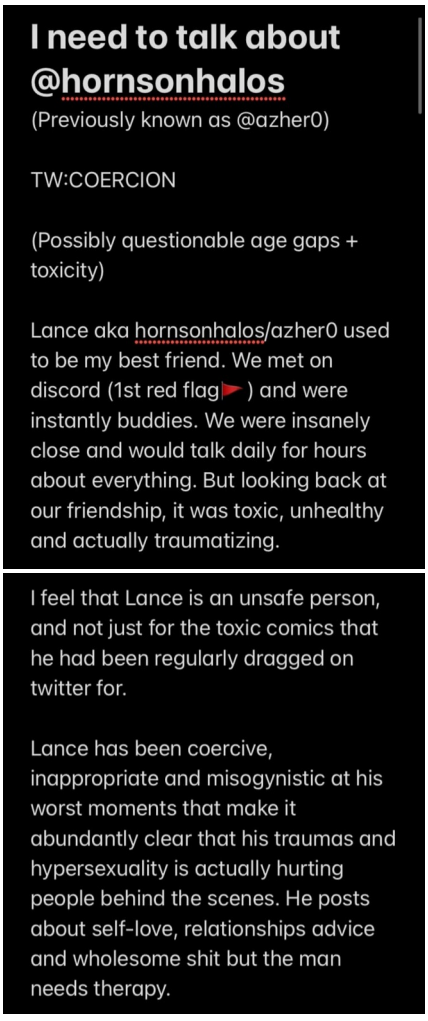
(This is from two years later, he never tried to stop or shut down his interactions with this minor. Genuinely crazy.)

2019:

In December of 2023 Amo_caat came out about her experience on Lance in a string of Instagram stories, where I believe they met in 2019. The story is long so there will be a summary at the bottom if needed.



I need to talk about @hornsonhalos
(Previously known as @azher0)
TW:COERCION
(Possibly questionable age gaps + toxicity)
Lance aka hornsonhalos/azher0 used to be my best friend. We met on discord (1st red flag) and were instantly buddies. We were insanely close and would talk daily for hours about everything. But looking back at our friendship, it was toxic, unhealthy and actually traumatizing.
I feel that Lance is an unsafe person, and not just for the toxic comics that he had been regularly dragged on twitter for.
Lance has been coercive, inappropriate and misogynistic at his worst moments that make it abundantly clear that his traumas and hypersexuality is actually hurting people behind the scenes. He posts about self-love, relationships advice and wholesome shit but the man needs therapy.

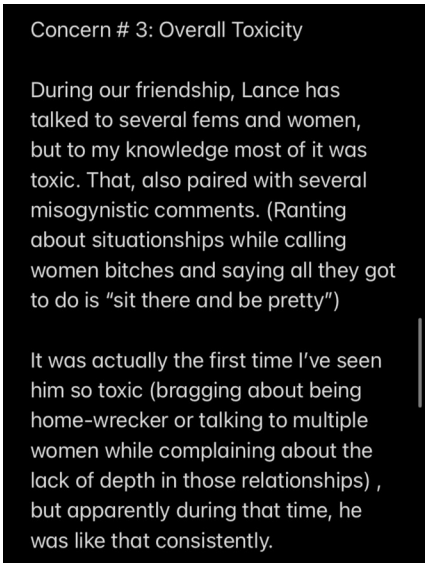
Concern # 1: Questionable Age Gaps:

This is matter of personal opinion, but I feel that once you hit a certain threshold of being in your near mid-20s, trying to date 18/19 years olds is gross (imo). He was interested in a 19 yr old he met off of threads mid this year despite being 23 (he is currently 24 now) And he even agreed that it was off and he wouldnt do anything until they were 20. The relationship was super short lived to my knowledge (one physical date and texting) because the 19 yr old was the one that ended it. Ngl if he had continued that relationship he would've been cut off. But i still felt incredibly grossed out that it wasn't a deterrent in the first place.

This isnt the first time either, in 2021 he was talking to an 18 yr old and He was 22.(according to him they first met when he was 20, but to my knowledge they didn't get to start knowing each other until she was 18) I told him that was really worrying morally wise. On both instances he agreed it was not good, and yet he continues to do it.

Concern # 2: Inappropriate Sexual Behavior (TW: Coercion)

He had been coercive. Back in 2019 there was an incident, that nearly broke apart a friend group because Lance was pressuring a girl he was talking to, to expose herself on camera. (And succeeded in pressuring her) And although i condemned him, i thought he could redeem himself. But in 2021 he would also be inappropriate with me(by pushing past my boundaries) which was incredibly triggering and made me break down, as I've had my own situations with coercion and blackmail with my ex.



Concern # 3: Overall Toxicity
During our friendship, Lance has talked to several fems and women, but to my knowledge most of it was toxic. That, also paired with several misogynistic comments. (Ranting about situationships while calling women bitches and saying all they got to do is "sit there and be pretty")
It was actually the first time I've seen him so toxic (bragging about being home-wrecker or talking to multiple women while complaining about the lack of depth in those relationships) , but apparently during that time, he was like that consistently.

Regardless i held on because i knew his story and i wanted him to get better. But result it just ended up harming me more. I abandoned my boundaries for loyalty. And overlooked the very fact that Lance isn't okay. He did many things that are NOT okay. He isn't just some laid back shit talker who post lil crazy comics.

Summary is that there are potentially three victims here.

One girl he coerced into stripping on camera even though she initially didn't want to.
Another girl he apparently tried to date when he was 22 and she was 18 but they had actually met when she was 16. Lance claims they didn't "really" know each other till she was 18 but we have no evidence of his claims.
And Amo, who said Lance did similar sexually inappropriate things with her, knowing she had direct trauma with it.

(Lance did also respond to this directly, confirming most of it but I will be adding that to the "Halo's response" section for organization purposes.)

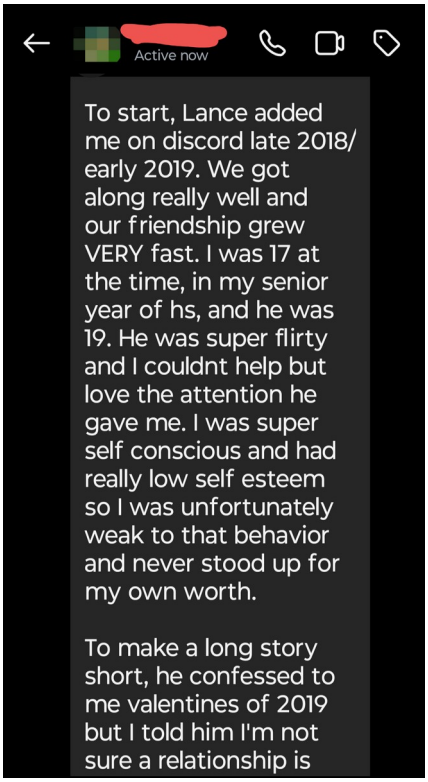
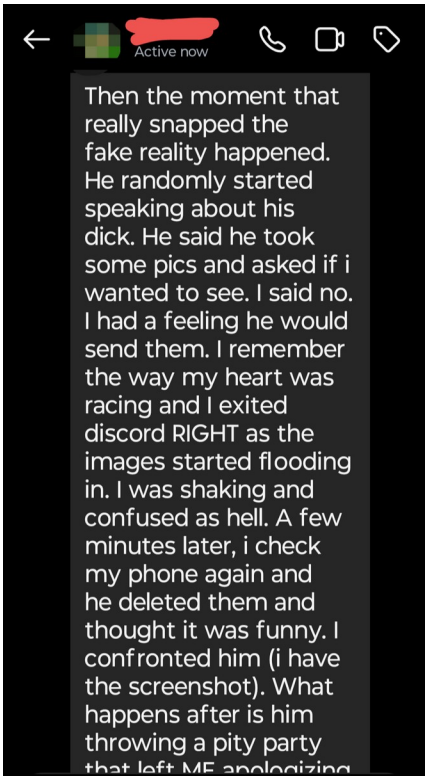
The second victim to come forward also knew Lance in 2019 when she was 17 and him 19.



[redacted]
Active now
To start, Lance added me on discord late 2018/ early 2019. We got along really well and our friendship grew VERY fast. I was 17 at the time, in my senior year of hs, and he was 19. He was super flirty and I couldnt help but love the attention he gave me. I was super self conscious and had really low self esteem so I was unfortunately weak to that behavior and never stood up for my own worth.
To make a long story short, he confessed to me valentines of 2019 but I told him I'm not sure a relationship is



[redacted]
Active now
Then the moment that really snapped the fake reality happened. He randomly started speaking about his dick. He said he took some pics and asked if i wanted to see. I said no. I had a feeling he would send them. I remember the way my heart was racing and I exited discord RIGHT as the images started flooding in. I was shaking and confused as hell. A few minutes later, i check my phone again and he deleted them and thought it was funny. I confronted him (i have the screenshot). What happens after is him throwing a pity party

Essentially, Lance wanted a relationship, and she did not. Even though she didn't, he brought up sexual topics and on one day in particular, even though she repeatedly asked him not to, Lance spammed her with naked photos of himself.
As obvious as it is, in the screenshot, he does not take her uncomfortably seriously and tries to play it off. She even states that after this, he made HER feel bad and apologize to him.

This person wanted it to be known that they realized while with Lance that he wanted no relationship with them outside of sexual and never tried to connect to them unless they sent him photos or sexted him.
They felt manipulated and used for this reason.

(As of current typing, I've already blocked Lance and screenshotted some things of what he was like towards me.)

I was a model for his nsfw artwork (roshiostarman); from his account you had to be like in your 20s and I was like "hey why not?" So I asked him in DM if I could be a model. I verified my age and everything and took some shots. This went on for some time and I realized that I was never used for any of them.

If I tried to send more = no response. Make small talk = no response. Reply to story = excuses excuses excuses

It made me see open eyes and find that I was only used for his sexual gratification. Like my body was only for him to jerk off to and once he's satisfied he throws me away. He'll degrade me and manipulate me, practically lie to my face saying he's had other messages and "work" and why he hadn't been so responsive towards me. After reading the recent stories and multiple people coming forward it made me realize I'm doing the right thing and not try to even contact him EVER again. Because no one deserves that. No one. I feel so

(This one in particular is just gross, I know he'd most likely make the excuse that they were “into it” but he pushed someone clearly in pain, to spend the time to send him sexual photos anyways.)

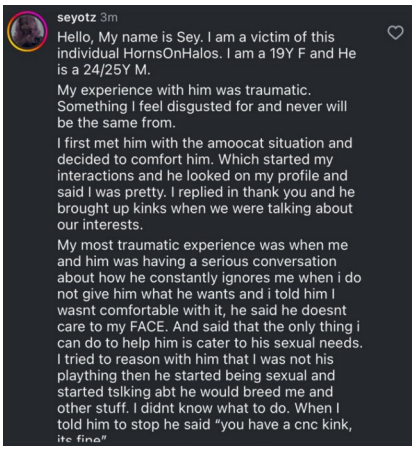
First up is Sey, someone who believed Lance was her close friend and in turn let him push her into things she was originally uncomfortable with.



seyotz 3m
Hello, My name is Sey. I am a victim of this individual HornsOnHalos. I am a 19Y F and He is a 24/25Y M.
My experience with him was traumatic. Something I feel disgusted for and never will be the same from.
I first met him with the amoocat situation and decided to comfort him. Which started my interactions and he looked on my profile and said I was pretty. I replied in thank you and he brought up kinks when we were talking about our interests.
My most traumatic experience was when me and him was having a serious conversation about how he constantly ignores me when i do not give him what he wants and i told him I wasnt comfortable with it, he said he doesnt care to my FACE. And said that the only thing i can do to help him is cater to his sexual needs. I tried to reason with him that I was not his plaything then he started being sexual and started tslking abt he would breed me and other stuff. I didnt know what to do. When I told him to stop he said “you have a cnc kink,

As Sey explains, the main reason they came into contact was to comfort him after Amocaat came out about her experiences with Lance.
Lance almost immediately uses this condolence to be sexual with her, and then over time pushing her more and more into sexual things she wasn't comfortable with.

Here cause them results on there was all shit I never heard off tawog

A few examples to show just how pushy as a constant he was with Sey.

hornsonhalo@gmail.com
don't know
That's just the truth
So all I was here for was your personal pleasure yea?
Shit was cute when it was flirty n sexual but the most you know is that I'm an artist and I got a brother
You didnt have no interest in getting to know me truly?
I ain't say allat but there was no attempt to bond w me, you was just tryna be someone for me that I could rely on, but it ain't feel that way n that's fine
I never cared for you being an artist, I genuinely wanted to know you, But you being like this
Im older than you n you got a lot of shit to prioritize in terms of your mental health and school or family, focus onnat
💀 You saying this but still wanted to interact with me

This in particular is the worst. When Sey asks him about the callout, Lance admits she was nothing more than a sexual object to him.
He claims she didn't “try to connect” but not only did she, but he was the one who started the sexual relationship and only really cared about just that.

The grossest bit, being him mentioning how wide apart in age the two of them are. Ironic how it didn't matter when they were sexual, but it matters now that she calls him out on his behavior.

To add, I was informed awhile after the fact that Sey was actually 17 when the two of them interacted. Sey told me she was older so she most likely (I'm giving him a generous benefit of the doubt here) told him the same thing, so if you see this Lance-Delete ANY nsfw images you have of her if they're still there. They are illegal to own.

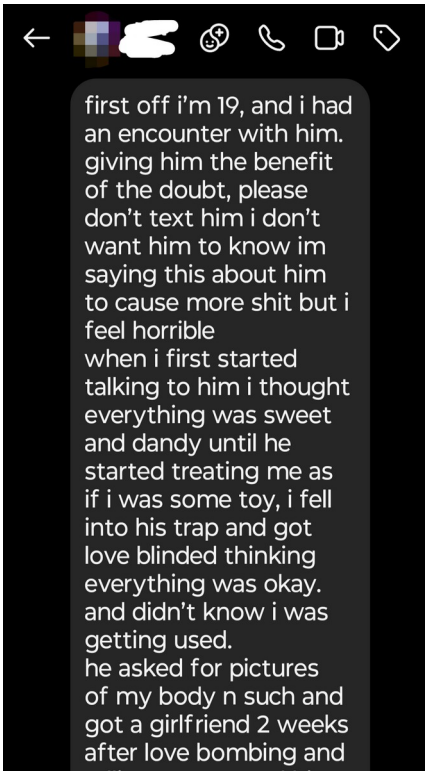
Next up is another girl, 19. I don't know they met but from what I was told, it was pretty recent at the time of our conversation in 2024.



first off i'm 19, and i had an encounter with him. giving him the benefit of the doubt, please don't text him i don't want him to know im saying this about him to cause more shit but i feel horrible when i first started talking to him i thought everything was sweet and dandy until he started treating me as if i was some toy, i fell into his trap and got love blinded thinking everything was okay. and didn't know i was getting used.
he asked for pictures of my body n such and got a girlfriend 2 weeks after love bombing and telling me to send him pictures of my body or they'll be "punishments or consequences."

i didn't know he had this much dirt on him but since i had a huge heart i have him the benefit of the doubt, yes we were friends but he's extremely rude and toxic and i got blinded by his acts because i was in love with him.
he's incredibly toxic, a manipulator, and very weird but i got an tangled up with his shit that i excused all of it.

Before showing off the images I want to warn you all again that these are incredibly sexual convos and Lance regularly speaks about harming this girl, as his kink.

(The rest will have the top censored due to them containing his personal phone number.)

It's very obvious this girl was purely a toy in his mind and one he often spoke about harming, blackmailing, and owning.
While these might've been jokes, the girl was terrified when she spoke to me and genuinely took every word of his seriously. Going along with his behavior because she was lonely.

And yes, him telling a teenager “you've matured very well” is extremely creepy, as he would only know that if she had shown or spoken about herself before she was 18. (Even if he hadn't been shown before of age photos, it's still a gross thing to say to a barely legal teen.)

Last for now would a girl who claimed to have directly modeled for Lance.

[redacted] 18h •
@royalsniz I was one of the girls whom he interacted with. I was reached out to by him, we "became friends" at least I thought so lol. Nope. He would only contact me for his sexual gratification. I was told I'd be a "fruit girl" of his. Girls with different bodies named after fruits. He asked for multiple nude reference photos, would demand them if I said no. He tried to get me to write his username on my butt, but I didn't want to do that. So he stopped messaging me. He 100% would leave me on read if I tried having a normal conversation with him. He also wanted me to call him pet names. He was also extremely rude when getting my photos. Telling me the posing is bad, retake it, better face etc

While, due to her deleting their conversations, there is no direct evidence for this claim.
There is a post of Lance's that confirm he did in fact want women to model for him, so this is likely true.

☠️☠️☠️how tf ima look actively saying "lemme see how you looked when you was 15/16"

As clear as day Lance knew this individual was 17, was sent photos of them when they were actually 16, and when finding that part out- he didn't even try to drop them as a contact. He was only worried about how it would possibly make him look.

Now this, would be the distribution of CP and IS illegal but I don't know if this is enough to contact the authorities so I'm going to wait till they come back with more conversation evidence and such before I contact them but I do plan to try the moment I can.

This gals confession travels from Lance being very rude to down right manipulative, creepy, and fully on sexual harassment.

Her screen caps are in an odd order but this is due to her being forced to reveal the severity of their relationship because of Lance trying to publicly defame her statements on him so please keep that in mind.

That's ok don't feel bad she's a super weirdo not to mention one of our last convos before i blocked him was me saying im on a weight loss medication due to me not being able to lose weight for over a decade. he asked me "have you tried actually working out and eating right" while knowing i had an ED in the past

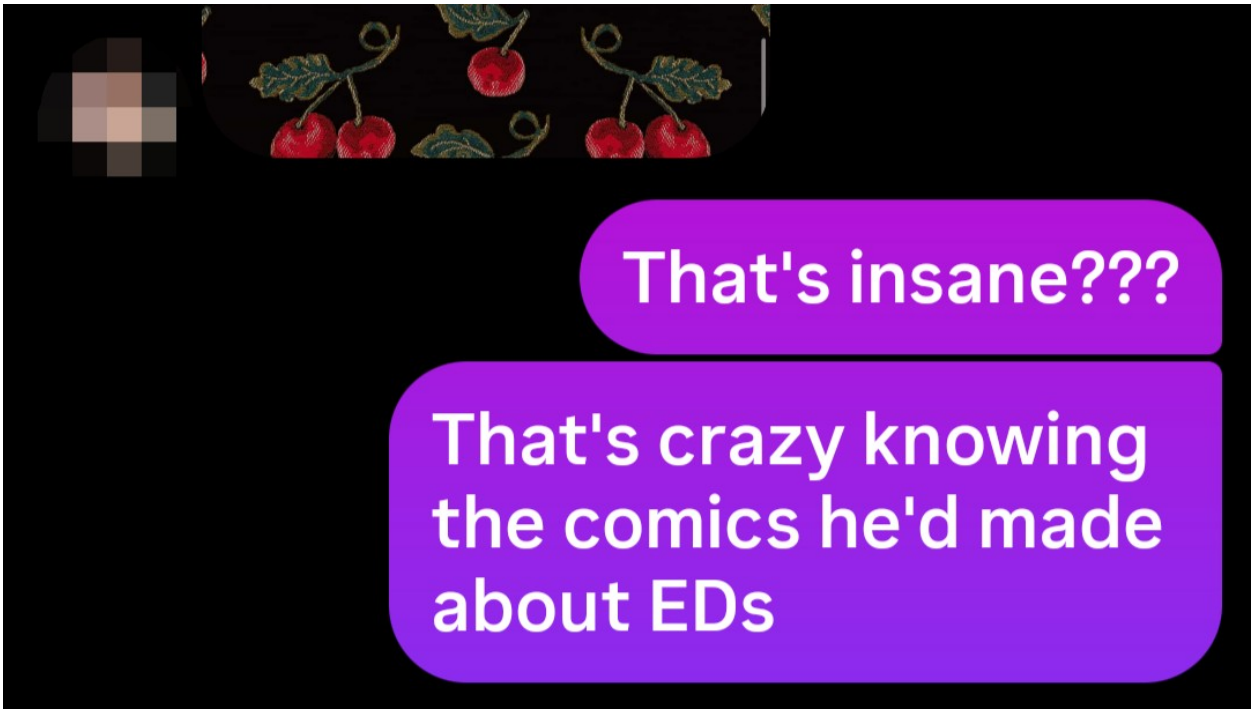
Alas, do what you want



I believe this needed to be shared in particular because Lance has made MANY comics about women's bodies, trying to uplift them and speak about how eating disorders can really harm women but when someone who's had trouble losing weight takes medication to help it's “oh you're not trying hard enough” kind of behavior? This is hypocritical and mean.

To add this is from May 12th of this year, just two months ago.

Additional examples this time of him directly pushing their boundaries and not really caring if they're uncomfortable or want privacy, as well as trying to make them feel bad for not wanting to do certain sexual activities.

Lance has since responded to this victim in particular on his Insta stories where he tried to claim there were no moments of him being pushy, inappropriate, or harassing. Of course, he never actually proves this and just shows a few instances of the two of them being sexual- it's obvious he doesn't understand how consent works because one time consent is not consent for every interaction afterwards. It's continuous and should be repeatedly asked for, especially when days or weeks pass.

So here we have a non sexual conversation between the two. Lance here is being extremely demanding and forceful and tells the victim to do what he wants repeatedly the moment he doesn't get his way.
She also asks him not to insult her and his response point blank is “well you like it.” Telling her FOR her that she likes this, she states yes but only sometimes in a sexual setting only.
He then stated that he'll “refrain from stating facts outside of sexual activity” meaning he does actually believe the girl he's talking to, to be stupid.
Extremely rude and mean behavior, for no reason.

Another conversation where AGAIN she is telling him no and to apologize for insulting her.
He replied literally exclaiming that he “doesn't do that” which is pretty concerning with the context of the other victim's stories. Along with the fact he acts like only “bitches” apologize and then calls her one. (Most likely as an insult.)

And yet another example of him making assumptions about what the woman wanted instead of just asking. This is not ok.

The latest victim has come forward, this time about Lance giving them an STI without their knowledge.
From what I was told, the two met up in November of 2025 and slept together.
The victim didn't find out till she was literally in another country, that something was clearly wrong and went to a gynecologist only to test positive for HPV. This deviated her as Lance was the only man she hadn't used protection for.
She had even gotten tested previously so she knew he was the only person this could've come from.

everything as he ghosted me after getting what he wanted. But he gave me HPV, multiple strains. I had a pap smear after my bc was removed and he was the only person I had unprotected sexy with, though I know technically you can get it even with protection. I was bruised for over a week after our encounter because he was so rough and had terrible pelvic pain after. I assumed it was because of a non sexual condition I have, but got confirmation after finally seeing a gynecologist recently :/

I don't have the report (long story, had a mental breakdown in Vietnam) but I do have an email from the doctor

Actually I lied the report is included it's just mostly vietnamese

Lance will most likely try to make excuses for this, but this is just exhausting. He is an active danger to the women around him and I worry for every girl who still speaks to him that doesn't know.

Testimonials:

These are claims made against him that have little to no evidence.

Many women have come forward to me, the reason why I didn't show them publicly was because they couldn't confirm the events due to it either being too long ago or blocking him out of fear.
So while I personally trust these victims as a lot of their stories run similar, please take their claims with a grain of salt and ONLY use the claims above me with evidence when speaking about him online.

I just want their stories shared.

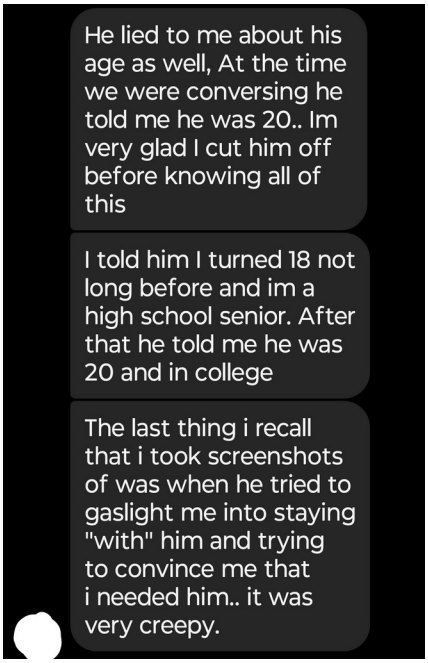
im so relieved im not the only one that has fallen victim to him.. hes a very disturbing individual and he tried to get under me when I was 18.
If i didnt give him what he wanted he would ghost me for days and then come back as it never ended.. he was so manipulative and it was an endless cycle. i was freshly 18 as well..



He lied to me about his age as well, At the time we were conversing he told me he was 20.. Im very glad I cut him off before knowing all of this
I told him I turned 18 not long before and im a high school senior. After that he told me he was 20 and in college
The last thing i recall that i took screenshots of was when he tried to gaslight me into staying "with" him and trying to convince me that i needed him.. it was very creepy.

If true, this would be one of the worst cases, because this would mean he absolutely knew that their age gap was huge.
They spoke not that long ago in 2024 making the gap in years 6 or 7, and them being freshly 18 also called out on it. It's a repetitive behavior??

Testimony 2:

I'm asking because I thought i was his friend and he's told me he's romantically attracted to me but now i feel like i should cut him off entirely, it feels like i've discovered something awful
You should, he's literally in contact with another woman rn and being sexual with them
There's no telling how many others he's "dating" ugh idk why i was so dumb to think he was telling the truth, how he's a good person just wanting to make art. I joked around saying he probably has other women he talks to (seriously joking) and he's told me i'm the only one. Obviously a lie. Not only that, ALL these posts about him that i'm just now discovering??? WOW!! also thank you, i would like to chat :) i feel like i need it.

Sorry, i don't mean to rant but like... wow. And to think he's confessed to it all yet doesn't change
He has posted before asking for models for art references. I send him a picture (not a nude) and complimented me and i liked it. That eventually led to sending him one "nude" (i was clothed) and he demanded i send more, he wanted his name written on my butt, i never did that. he demanded i call him romantic names? he made me feel uncomfortable and once cussed me out for saying i wasn't okay with it anymore he only messaged me when he wanted a nude but i never sent

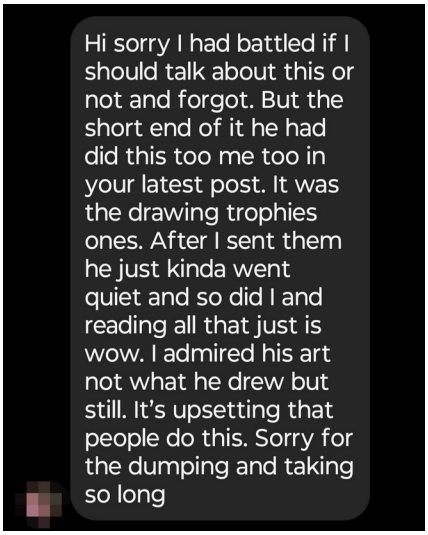
This one in particular is pretty sad, seeing all the other girls and femmes I've spoken to it should be obvious that Lance did in fact speak to many other women while also claiming to this one, that he wasn't.

Testimony 3:



Hi sorry I had battled if I should talk about this or not and forgot. But the short end of it he had did this too me too in your latest post. It was the drawing trophies ones. After I sent them he just kinda went quiet and so did I and reading all that just is wow. I admired his art not what he drew but still. It's upsetting that people do this. Sorry for the dumping and taking so long

Another example of him not really caring for or respecting these women.

Testimony 4:

He was well aware of my sexual trauma , etc. and then stopped talking to me. I'm glad he stopped talking to me bc after I felt so gross but to know he did this to other people makes me feel bad
4:58 PM
Wait is it's ok to ask what exactly he did? Like was he sexual with you?

Replying to
No he had more than one account during this time ...
I can show you all his accounts if you wanna see if it's still there
Replying to
He was very sexual
Course he was, I'm sorry
5:12 PM

This user in particular was around 17 when they met and Lance 19-20 as it was not long before covid hit.
Just like all the ones before, he was very sexual with them and then ghosted them when bored.
The age gap wasn't large but they believed he was much closer in age so obviously they wouldn't have been ok with this otherwise.

It's extremely strange how all of these people have very similar stories.
He seemed kind and wanted to know them, only to then push them away after getting his sexual gratification.
It doesn't help that almost all were teenagers, some barely 18, and he much older. And several also being fans, meaning he was directly taking advantage of their admiration of him.

For those who just want to call him a “sex pest” even after reading everything above, remember that coercion isn't consent, and that's exactly what he did with several women and girls. He pressured and pushed them into weirdly rapey and violent role-play, pressured them to send him photos, would get mad if they weren't exactly to his liking, and treated them as sexual objects- he even admitted he thought of their vulnerable images as trophies.
That is sexual harassment, no matter how he tries to spin it, a man like that should NOT have a platform. Especially when he uses that exact platform to constantly beg women to interact and DM him. He has a following of 200k on his Instagram and Tiktok. He has immense power over these girls and the fear many of them had when speaking to me should be proof enough that they KNOW he has power over them and are afraid of what he might do if he finds out.

Especially the girls who were under 18, even if the age gap wasn't massive, even if he isn't a pedophile, he is still a creep that doesn't understand boundaries and doesn't treat women and girls like people.

He should be ashamed.

I'm adding these in last minute because it's been weighing on me for awhile now and I feel much worse holding onto these even if it turns out they're not connected to Lance.

So about a year ago I was contacted by a user who stated that they had a very weird interaction with someone they believed to be Lance as apparently this user shared some of Lance's Instagram posts and said they were his own, and I really mean they genuinely believed it was him.

The guy claimed he would remove the individual but instead only kicked the gal who reported him.
I did also try to contact this Grizzy person as well but was immediately blocked after mentioning “hornsonhalos”.

I felt like I had hit a dead end so I asked a few of Lance's previous victims if they recognized any of the photos and actually got a reply from one where she even showed me the exact blanket the photo was taken on.

yea- mine are in there

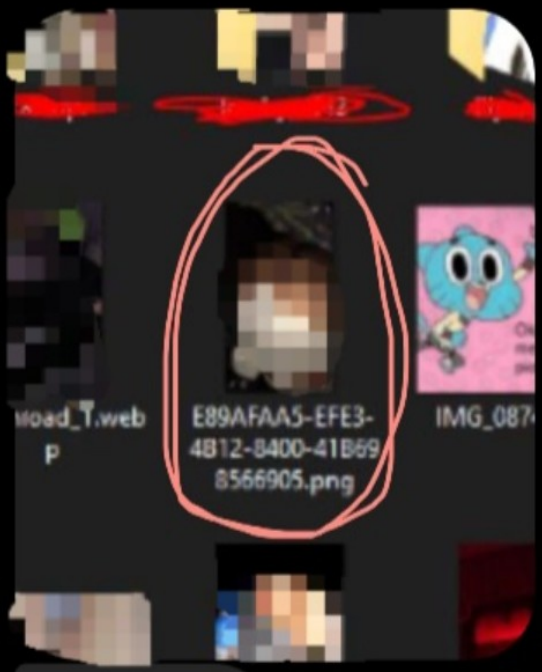
Which ones



this one

Holy shit no way

😀 I remember that exact photo i sent and that blanket is def mine

(Yes this was also the girl who turned out to be 17 too, making this whole situation all the more worrying, and also no the image is not a nude. None of them were just very sensual which is still very concerning.)

The user who also sent me the initial evidence has since deleted both their discord and Instagram account.

I wand to reiterate that THERE IS LITTLE EVIDENCE THAT CONNECTS THIS PERSON TO LANCE.
The reason this has been added is because holding onto potential criminal evidence would be stupid of me. There is a chance that there is a man with possible CP in his hands that he is just throwing around without the knowledge or consent of the women within the photos.

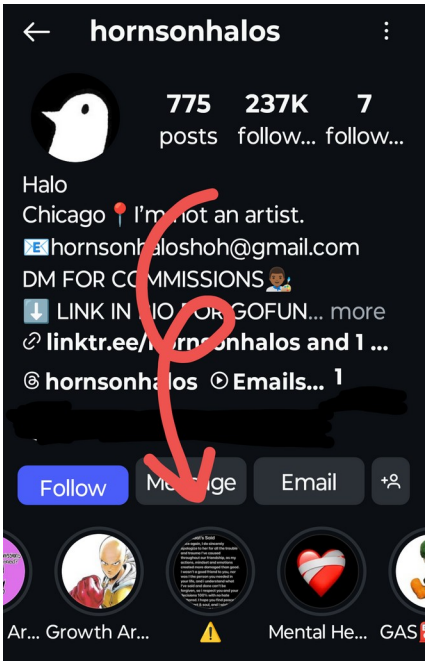
If you have ever been sexual with Lance and have sent him sensual photos please contact this email and I will privately show the uncensored version for you to determine if you're on there.
I hope to get to the bottom of this.

Violent behavior:

For some reason Lance has a really childish way of responding to criticism and that includes serious accusations.

When I first called him out on Instagram late last year, Lance threw a fit in his stories. He insulted everyone who came forward against him, called them names, threatened to beat everyone up, and then threatened to punch me in the face. Twice actually.

This is a really poor way to respond to anything, but to something so serious? It only makes me believe the claims more and trust his own words less.



The highlight in question is here. He has not deleted it and probably will never plan to as he genuinely believes acting like an angry child is a normal thing to do.
The highlight is long though so I will directly link to the parts where he threatens me.

[Violent threats]

It doesn't stop there though, like I said, he also threatens to hurt everyone on his Insta story and he has threatened people within his comics too.

Hey, aren't you that guy that made that school shooter OC + comic?
hornsonhalos
sped up + slowed · Pumped...
AHH!!

This one's even worse than the last. He tries to claim at the end of the comic that, this didn't actually happen so it doesn't matter but Lance fails to understand that HE'S a real person who can actually harm people and seeing as he's directly threatened me, he can't hide behind that whole “it's just a comic” bullcrap as he DOES want to harm others.

Also drawing yourself brutally killing someone as a response to harmless criticism, isn't normal.

This next part isn't exactly violent per se but I still think it's harassment and abuse of his large platform.
See when Lance is called out, he often times searches out for or finds accounts pretty easily and then responds negatively- but sometimes he then directs his audience to harass these people, even if they're children.

(The last one is from my own story where I censored it for him, he did not do this himself.)

As shown above, he regularly puts very small users on blast the moment they dislike any of his content, even if they're just calling him cheesy.
And while he's not directly saying "you guys should harass this person" he is very much alluding to this, and doesn't even care that several were straight up children. (The meat pogo stick joke is just out of line man, that kid's age was in the bio he shows himself!)

Remember he has a following of 200k and has been over 50k for three years now. This is purely an abuse of power on his part.
(He's allowed to respond to criticism but he could've easily hid their users, and it wasn't like he replied to them earnestly either, he simply insulted them.)

So this “interaction” as you will, with Lance was not something I discovered myself but rather was informed about by others.
During Lance's second major response to me on Instagram he shared a string of Insta stories that allied to him handling a gun, being able to kill with said weapon, and that people shouldn't mess with him.

In the background of one image was many bullets he supposedly owned and in another-

While again this is not him DIRECTLY claiming to want to take my life, the fact he posted these whilst complaining about me, did indeed feel targeted and strange.

His comics:

This section is to address the worst of his comics and the controversies surrounding them.
While most aren't as serious as the claims above, I do think it's important people know why even his comic work is full of malice, hypocrisy, and ignorance.

Any comic that is a direct response to backlash will instead be in the “Halo's response” section below this one to keep things in order.

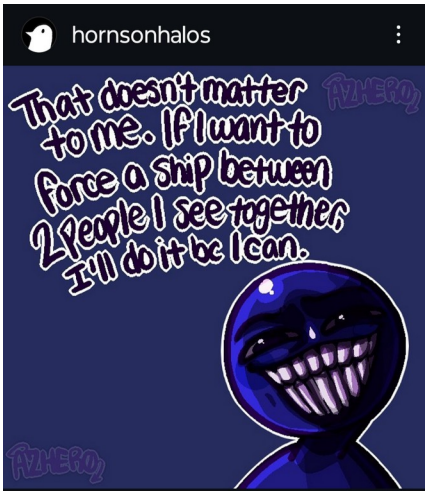
Awweee... They're so gay for each other!!!
Wh-what? They're not even being visibly intimate?



Starting with the most infamous one, we have one person enjoying fandom and another person wanting to ship the said characters together.
They are not canon so from Lance's perspective it must be “forced” shipping. Which of course is a fundamental misunderstanding of shipping. All shipping is non canon that's why they ship them?
Because they want to see them together?
So this is a silly argument to make.

I'm the next slide Lance even recognizes that people would see his perspective as homophobic and tried to paint the shipper in a bad light for this reason.

You don't see an issue in shipping these people?
Siblings, kids or literal enemies
Proshipper
No. And they're fictional, so who cares?
Don't be weird, let people like what they like.

He then compares the shipping of same sex characters to that of literal incest and frames the shipper in question as someone who would like both.
Intent or not, the only message anyone got from this comic is that Lance believes all non canon shipping, ESPECIALLY queer shipping- as profiction.

He literally sees shipping people of the same sex as bad as shipping people related or other immortal relationships such as pedophilia.

Let's talk about it the right way if you don't have selective vision.
Now, ask yourself why you're in these fandoms that are so disliked, and it trails back to their obnoxious fanbase of weird ass fanboys, fangirls and proshippers.

I believe this comic is supposed to be a further explanation on his opinion, but I promise you, it's more or less repeating the same thing.

His framing in the very first slide in itself is really silly. “Ask yourself why you're in these fandoms that are so disliked” ???
As if people have a choice in what media they enjoy. All fandoms also have toxic parts to their fanbase, but they are not to blame for the actions of toxic people, so this interpretation is weird. (The jab at nsfw content here is silly. Not only has Lance drawn nsfw of fictional characters but there's also nothing wrong with this as long as both characters are adults. He should know this, he's done it himself.)

People will Ship any Duo, Trio Group, Team or Rivalry, regardless of any canonical hints of romantic/sexual attraction
Yeah, they've all been shipped at least once.
NINJAGO

Yes they will and that's perfectly ok as long as none of them are related or pedophilic.

This image is ironic too as MLP, Monster high, adventure time, and sailor moon have canon queer characters. He literally chose whatever Google gave him without understanding many of these shows have queer characters or creators.
Many creators in general have also stated they have no problem with shipping.

Now, there's no issue with kids (minors) being shipped respectfully, but MY ISSUE are the people that oversexualize them in their fanart/fanfics and defend it by saying it's fiction, why does it matter, etc.
Do you see the problem here? It's not a M-M/W-W thing, they're all kids. And idc if you're a minor too. That shouldn't justify you romanticizing or sexualizing children. You wouldn't want people irl trying romi/sex. pair you with your friends or others unprovoked. (if you have any)

Here he says he has no issue with it but then immediately says “romanticizing” children is wrong.
Like which is it then? Is shipping teens ok or not?

There's a huge difference between sex and romance and he KNOWS that but still added it here thinking no one would notice. You are not a damn proshipper for drawing two characters you like holding hands or kissing.
(He also randomly tries to compare fictional characters to REAL people. They are not even remotely the same.)

hornsonhalos
For The BNHA Fans
I support the growth of Bakugou + the close friendship he has w/ Deku, but they are not lovers. Please stop romanticizing and sexualizing minors with your weak ass thumb pieces.

This again is just his opinion but he's framing it as anyone who disagrees is a proshipper.
There's nothing wrong with shipping friends, and yes that includes characters that weren't always friends. This is not even remotely close to shipping anything pedophilic.

(And there's him using the word romanticizing again. Drawing teenager characters holding hands is perfectly ok and not immortal in ANY way.)

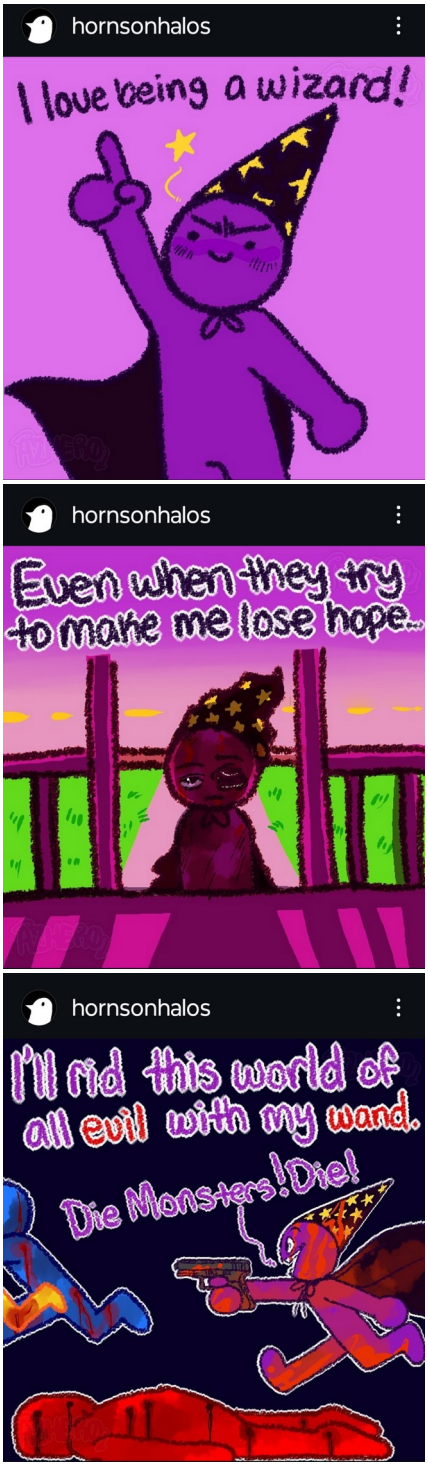
For reference he asked this after I already told him no by the way. He doesn't like taking no for an answer. (He also never took down his own post, and he still to this day holds this opinion.)

I have one last piece of evidence though to further prove his hypocrisy.

Lance's own art where he ships two straight characters who are minors.
Not only is this hypocritical, he's making a sexual joke here and shipping two characters wildly apart in age. Darwin being 12 and in middle school and Rachel being in highschool.

Lance's rules for thee and not for me.

School shooter comic:



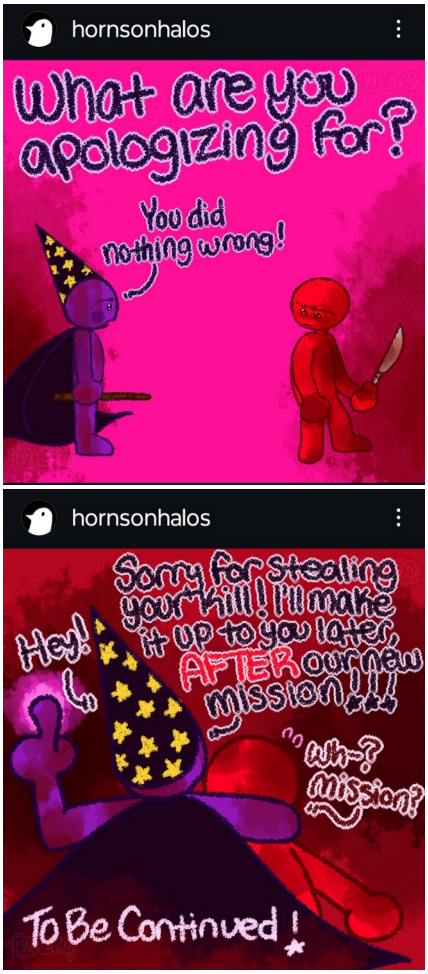
hornsonhalos
I love being a wizard!
hornsonhalos
Even when they try to make me lose hope...
hornsonhalos
I'll rid this world of all evil with my wand.
Die Monsters! Die!

That's the entire joke. A kid supposedly gets bullied and then kills everyone in the end.
There is no lesson about gun safety. No morals about how this isn't something children should resort to doing if they're being bullied.

It's a short comic he made for fun.

Even worse, he actually tries to paint the killer as the victim and that his violent actions are just.

School shooter comic pt2:



hornsonhalos
What are you apologizing for?
You did nothing wrong!
hornsonhalos
Hey!
Sorry for stealing your kill! I'll make it up to you later, AFTER our new MISSION!!!
Wh-? Mission?

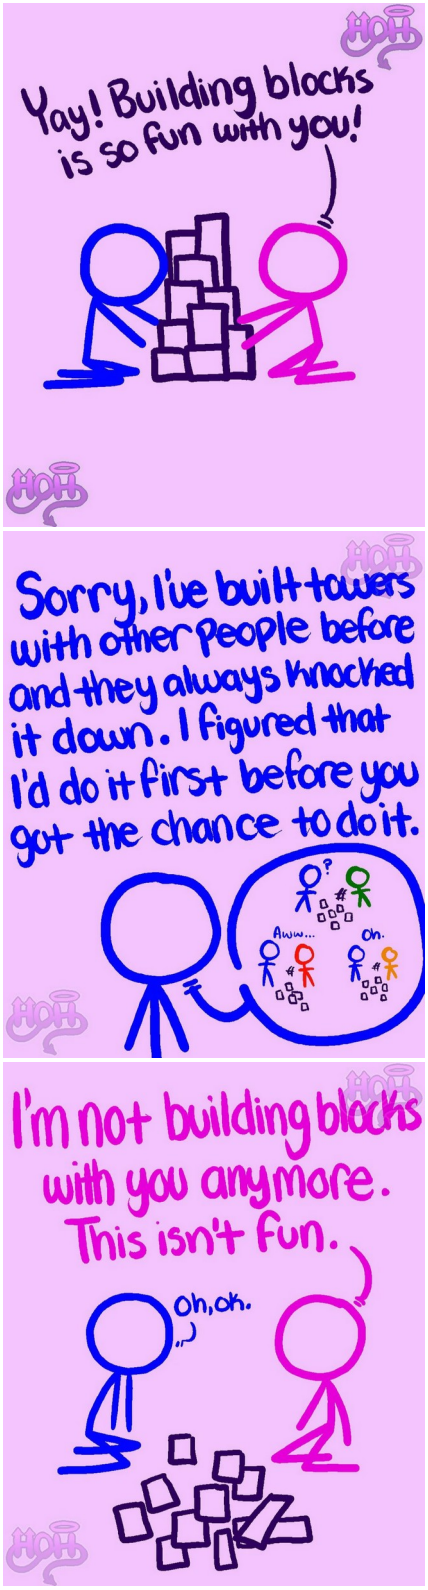
Long story short, the shooter befriends and goes on “adventures” with a serial killer.

That again, is the joke.

And this is just one of at least ten different comics of these two characters killing and maiming random people. These comics don't exist as any kind of message, just to be edgy.

The backlash behind these comics is for that exact reason. A lot of people believed the comics were insensitive to a real issue many people face today and that Lance claiming to care about sensitive topics and people's mental health, then promoting this kind of behavior, is toxic and hypocritical.

Self sabotage comic:



Yay! Building blocks is so fun with you!
Sorry, I've built towers with other people before and they always knocked it down. I figured that I'd do it first before you got the chance to do it.
Awww...
Oh.
I'm not building blocks with you anymore. This isn't fun.
Oh, ok.

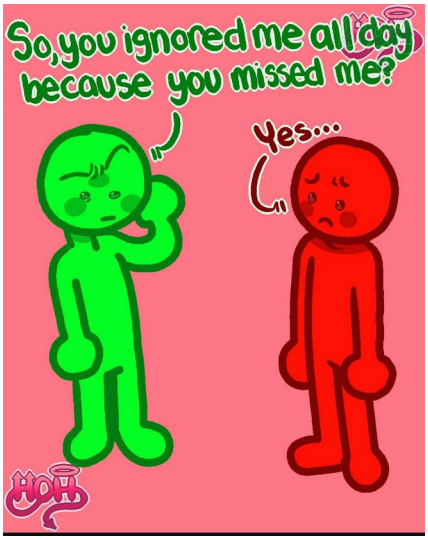
The comic is way longer than this but to summarize. One character self sabotages (hence the title) and then when the other character asks why they explain that they had experienced years of people hurting them and breaking what they built so now they do it themselves before others get the chance to do so.

They then, after explaining, knock it down again due to habit and the other person essentially leaves them.

The backlash from this comic is most likely due to the lack of nuance here. Dropping someone after they explain to you their issues pretty plainly can be an example of toxic behavior. Friendships take time to grow and people who have been in abusive relationships struggle more than others.
While you don't HAVE to befriend someone with that kind of baggage the way the comic is framed, implies this is the correct and only response to someone self sabotaging. Implying that those kinds of people don't deserve relationships when it's much more complicated than that.

That's also why I never cared for his comics personally. Topics such as these can't be tied neatly into a little bow. Relationships are complex and each one is different and what might be ok for some might be a deal breaker for others.
But his comics usually don't have this nuance, and in turn, this upset the folks reading it.

But not you comic:



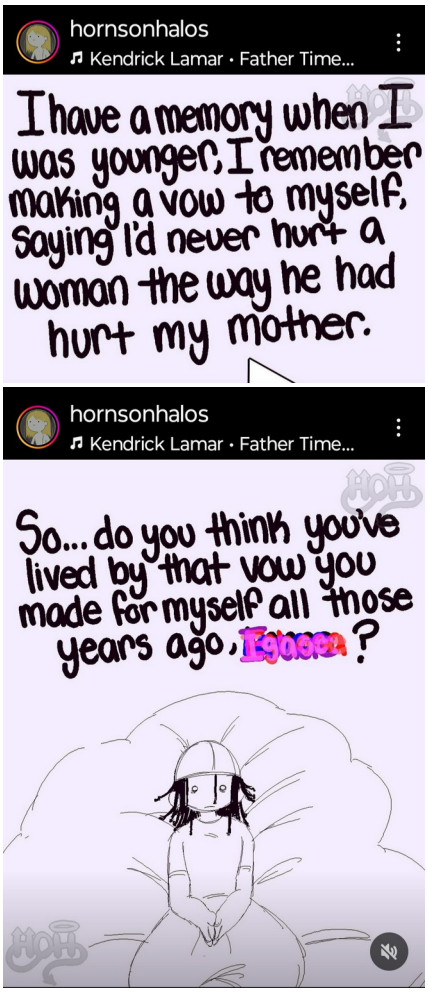
Well, I chose not to communicate because I didn't want to bother you or come off clingy/annoying so not talking to you at all was the healthiest option.
It's always good to be direct and communicate with others instead of assuming + self sabotaging a good thing you have with someone you care about!
Except for you, I'm cutting you off today.
wha....?

More or less the same as the other comic.

A character explains the reasons behind their trauma and the other character leaves them.

I won't be repeating myself as you all already know why this comic upset other people.
I would like to note though that Lance himself participates in ghosting people, like all the time. It's silly that he knows how this can make others sad but keeps doing it anyway.

Like his father comic:



hornsonhalos

I have a memory when I was younger, I remember making a vow to myself, saying I'd never hurt a woman the way he had hurt my mother.
hornsonhalos

hornsonhalos
Kendrick Lamar • Father Time...
No... I haven't.

hornsonhalos
Kendrick Lamar • Father Time...
And do feel like you're turning into your Father these days?

As clear as day, this is Lance directly admitting to believing he is a violent abuser like his father.
While there isn't much to go off of here, he has described his father as physically violent, manipulative, and a danger to women, in other comics.
Lance claiming he is no different is extremely concerning and only adds to the list of reasons as to why he shouldn't have a platform and should stay away from women.

I've heard it before and I want to state that “coming clean” about your actions or behavior does NOT make you a good person nor does it absolve you of your past actions. While it is the first step towards improvement, if you never actually break that cycle of abuse, then admittance just becomes guiltiness and nothing else.
This is my issue with Lance. This post is almost a year old, but a few of the victims came forward after this comic was posted, proving to me that he hasn't attempted or even started to change. (His most recent response to me on Twitter proves that as well.)

hornsonhalos Dirty Trophies (Part 2 ((END)) ((made @ 1:38pm 5/17/24))

It's pretty easy to understand why this comic was received poorly by some. Lance is again admitting to treating women like sexual objects. It obviously is not normal to request nude photos of possibly up to a hundred women(?) and only proves that he doesn't view women as anything other than something to be sexual with.

This wasn't the only reason the comic was disliked though.

titteacafe 10m
I'm doubling down as a confirmation that I'm deadasss, I'll proudly regret this later and it gives me a Reason to draw, so we all win

These screencaps come from his 18+ account on Instagram weeks after his nudes comic was posted.
As clear as day he's directly asking for nudes/lewd photos in exchange for art (which is technically prostitution as they receive something in return for sexual favors). This just means his entire comic was a lie. He hasn't stopped nor is he even attempting to.

He's not even trying to get to know these women as he claims in the comic, that he did. He basically lied to thousands of people.

Halos Harem comic:

Not much to show for this one, he just admits that when he was younger he wanted a harem of women that did everything/ anything he wanted.

He plays it off as a joke but treating women as sexual objects isn't funny or cute it's just gross.
(He also straight up admits to being a womanizer.)

hornsonhalos

Don't play dumb, you've noticed a decent amount of women you've mingled with love to act like dogs and you never failed to entertain them.

Personally I don't believe this for one minute. While it's not impossible for a coping mechanism to creep up like that, that is no excuse to treat women like animals instead of people.
If he had just stated it was a fetish and didn't try to excuse it, maybe some folks wouldn't have been so creeped out by it.

Like again, this is weird as hell. What even is a dog-like mannerism? Them being teenagers barely out of highschool so to you their innocence looks “pet like” , Lance? Is that it? Because it sure looks like it by just how many are really young.

Again, not funny or cute, just misogynistic.

Another comic where Lance admits to being a horrible person, and proudly states this too.

There wasn't exactly “backlash” behind this one but rather just people pointing out that he then shouldn't have a platform, especially one where he actively looks for women to be sexual with on a constant basis.
This is also good to have here so we're clear that again, Lance is a bad person and there is no evidence of this man trying to change just of him admitting over and over again that he's a bad person.

So this comic in particular was shown to me by a follower because ironically, Halos has heavily sexualized characters from kids shows himself.

I've already shown the minors he sexualized but he has also drawn similar works of the adult women within kid shows too.

Not only does he call them all MILFs but he also exaggerates their feminine features (bust and butt areas) to the extreme.

This is yet another example as to why even if you say follow him for his comics, Lance doesn't even practice what he preaches.
If we should dislike these types of groups by Lance's own words, then we should dislike him too, no?

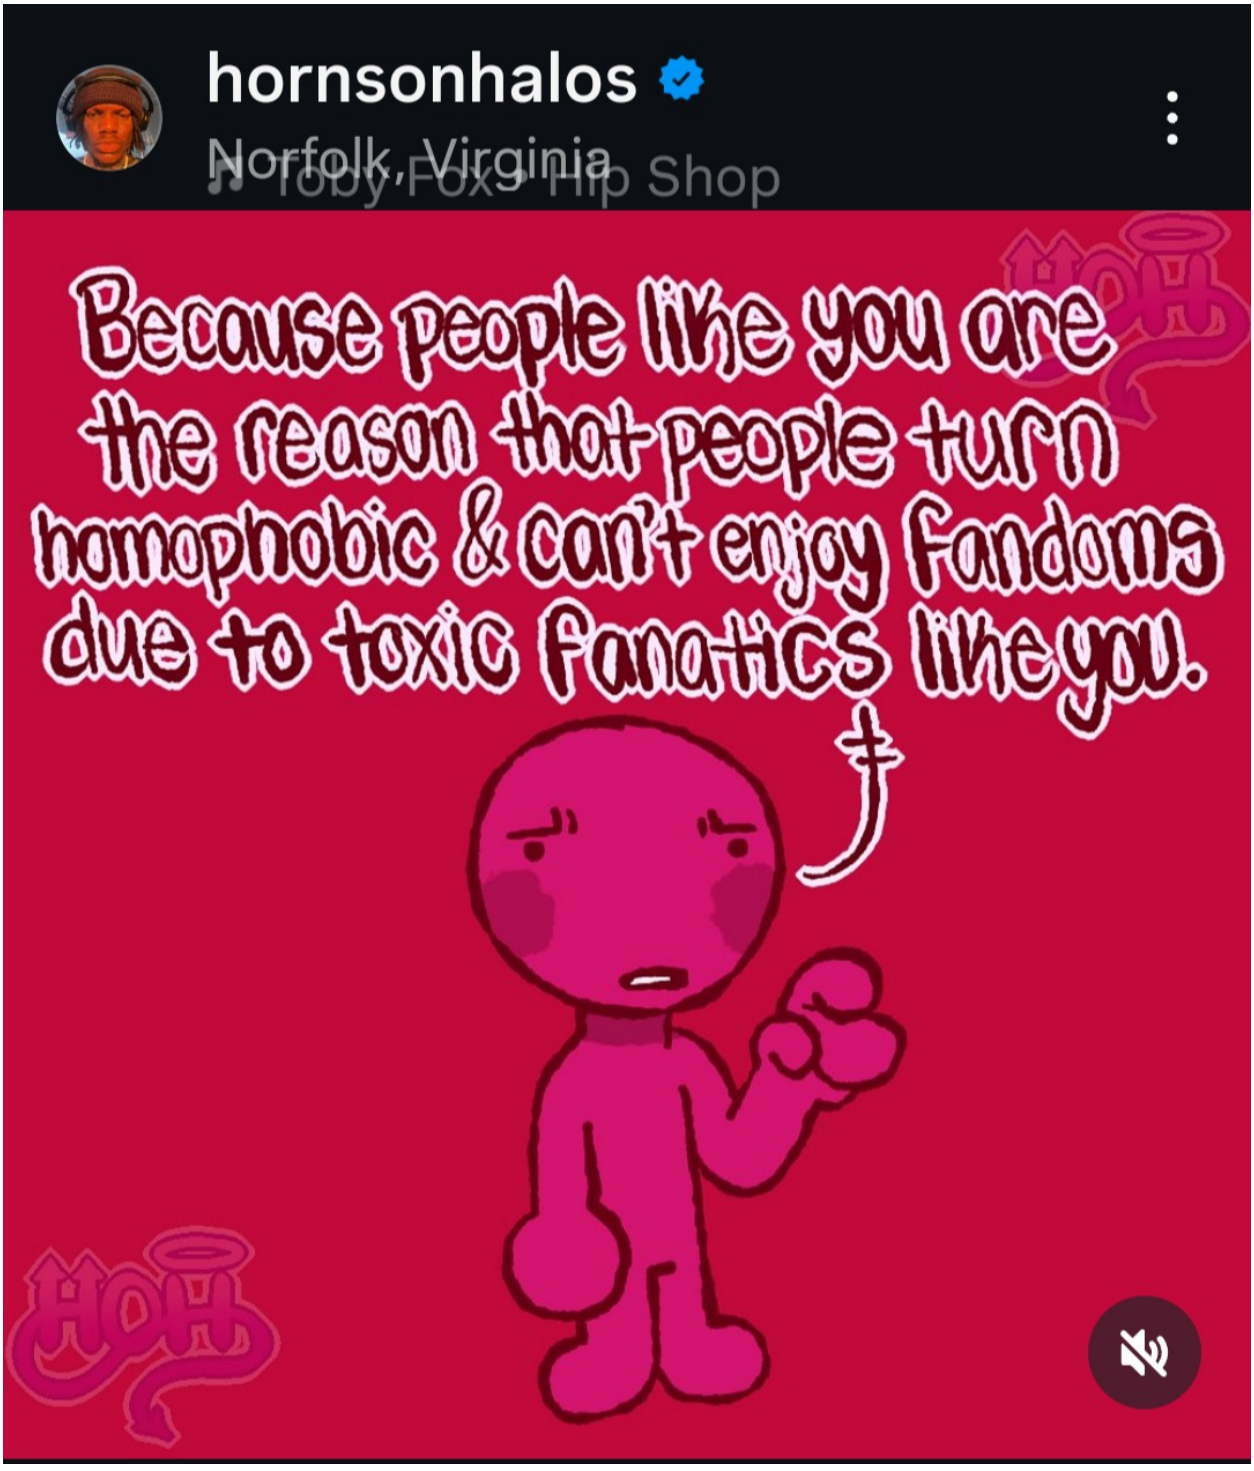
What are you, homophobic? You must hate same-sex couples if you're that bothered by a harmless ship. Typical cishet....

This is an obvious remake of Lance's original homophobic comic, instead of painting queer folks as predators he's instead painting the group as oppressing the poor innocent cishets into shipping gayness where it “doesn't belong”.



hornsonhalos
Norfolk, Virginia
Toby Fox's Hip Shop
Because people like you are the reason that people turn homophobic & can't enjoy fandoms due to toxic fanatics like you.
HOH

Probably the worst page from the comic, the supposed/assumed straight character blames the queer person for homophobia. Essentially telling queer shippers that if people are homophobic they themselves are at fault for the bigotry they experience.

This of course is a heinous thing to say as there is no excuse in the world that could justify homophobia and if someone sees a queer ship they don't like and decides to hate an entire group of millions of people because of it, it's on THEM. Not the lgbt community.

It's not ridiculous to say that. Most of y'all truly glorify sexualities like a trend or aesthetic, then treat the straight ships like a taboo. Gay & Straight ships can coexist normally.

Not as bad as the other page but Lance is still trying to imply straight people are being oppressed by queer folks within fandom.

I won't deny that there are extreme people in fandom that exist, but they are not the majority and queer people as a whole especially shouldn't be blamed for the actions of that small group.

That small group also obviously does not and never had held the same power straight creators have. I already went over this when I addressed the first comic of this nature but, a lot of queer content is actually ripped out of the media by studio executives to appease homophobic people. The most recent example being in 2025 with the movie Ello which was originally going to have queer themes.
I just can't believe I have to say this- straight people are not oppressed. The entirety of the fandom world isn't treating your straight ships as taboo, stop playing victim to excuse bigotry.

I will add that there was some feedback to the folks critiquing the comic by claiming that the two characters "reconcile in the end" but this simply isn't true.

Yeah, some people can be very passionate with queer representation.
It can look very obnoxious in other People's eye's when it's being rubbed in their face alot.

The only thing that happens is the blue character sees the pink character's point. In turn, agreeing with their homophobic statements.
It was very clear from the get go (just look at how he drew blue vs Pink's facial expressions) that Lance wants the audience to agree with the bigoted statements. There is barely any nuance here.

For one the brown guy in particular doesn't ever imply that HE thinks it's pedophilia or nasty to speak to someone who could be underaged but rather that other people do.
And two, again he doesn't care about the girl here who could become a potential victim of grooming, just that his male friend could become a “victim of cancel culture”.

I personally feel as if this is Lance directly speaking to the audience here as this comic was created after he first got called out for sexting with barely legal girls while being in his mid 20s.

He doesn't see an issue but believes that people who do are “taking away the girl's agency.” But at the same time neither character here is giving a single thought to how the girl could feel, just worried about themselves getting caught.

13 year olds shouldn't be engaging with this kind of content, no one under 18 should especially because many of these stories are about his direct sexual experiences. He's a grown ass man, he should not be speaking to minors about how much sex he has.

Halo's responses:

Once again, I do sincerely apologize to her for all the trouble and trauma I've caused throughout our friendship, as my actions, mindset and emotions created more damaged than good. I wasn't a good friend to you, nor was I the person you needed in your life, and i understand what I've said and done can't be forgiven, so i respect you and your decisions 100% with no hate harbored. I hope you find peace in your heart & soul, and I wish you the best in everything you do

As for the relationship I had in 2021, I knew of them when I was 20, though personal events had me occupied and we started talking when I was 21 and they were 18, which doesn't look well on my part and I take full accountability for that since Im aware how immoral that comes off & had no valid reason talking to them, eventually cutting them off completely and letting them be
((TW: Coercion)) And the events of my behavior back in 2019, a old friend and I were being sexual with each other through the phone, and in the moment, I was being too aggressive and ruined the whole interaction by being forceful and assertive which upset her and made her uncomfortable, leading to her telling our friends & me being confronted, later apologizing and taking accountability for my fuckup. Her and I rekindled as friends a while after that, though we later fell out again due to tension in the friendship, and left it at that
hornsonhalos
((TW: Coercion)) Amonaat also being a victim to that was due to me being high and putting her in a very uncomfortable position due to my own sexual behavior after realizing I have an "apology kink", which I instantly apologized for in that moment as I saw how much it triggered and upset her, telling her I wouldn't put her in a position like that again after apologizing to her once more

For once Lance here actually fully apologizes for his actions and admits that what he did was wrong.

While I do feel as if he's still trying to water down and make excuses for the things he did, at the very least, he is owning up to having harmed women.

This second response is honestly repulsive. It's as if her reason completely flew over his head. He legitimately tries to claim within the response that he believes she “always had a grudge” or something when Amo VERY CLEARLY stated it that she came forward because she doesn't think someone like Lance should have a large platform.
She stated clearly that she tried to be his friend but he was repeatedly misogynistic for years and could no longer take it.

Amo did also see this comic and was extremely uncomfortable, replying that she did not give him permission to share their personal interactions (something she never shared when coming forward about him btw) and wanted him to stop.
Unfortunately this is only the beginning.

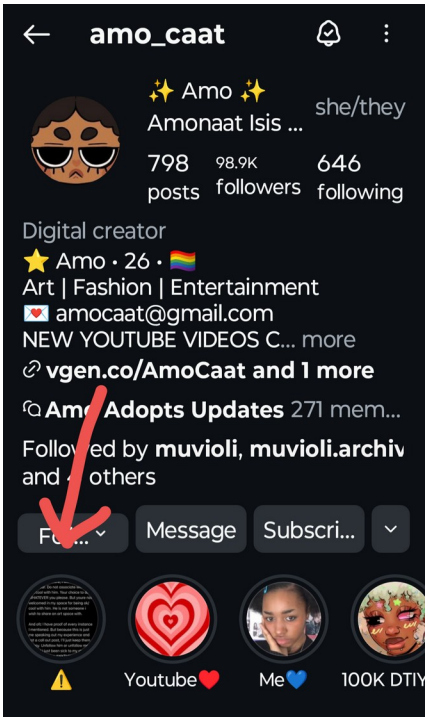
I can finally crash out so lemme cut to the chase:
Amonaat, yk we got history, so PLEASE do me a favor and bring up your male relationships prior to mine since you left out how shit went down with William, Haneef and Cam especially. We both know how terrible Cam was, so it'd help give context to what a controlling & abusive relationship really looks like compared to how you've painted me out to be with this narrative you gave to social media
And to any women/femmes who've gone to Amonaat to address how I've been abusive, sexually harassing you, or coerced you into doing anything you weren't comfortable with, you're absolutely free to expose me and drop screenshots, but PLEASE , post it IN THE FULL CONTEXT, PLEASE🙏 Not only would it allow everyone to have the full context of our conversations, but it'd lmk where and what else I've also done wrong if I didn't communicate or give proper reassurance to my mistakes

Yes, Lance literally brings up personal trauma of Amos that she did not give him permission to share ONLY so he can compare himself and go “these men were worse than me!”.
This random “crash out” as he calls it, is him PROVING THEIR PERVIOUS POINTS. That he is not trustworthy and not someone she could be around. He literally shared personal sexual trauma she experienced with other men to him and him alone, only for him to expose it to thousands of people just to try and paint himself as the “lesser evil”.

The point again flying over his head here. She didn't come forward because he was “worse” than any of her previous male partners/friends. She came forward because Lance was the one with the massive platform. He had/has access to a lot more vulnerable young women, and that worried her, so she stepped up.

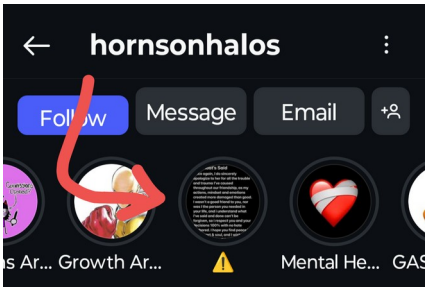
And to add, she never made a single post about this man. She made one highlight with the initial allegations and that's it. Lance literally COULD NOT let this go, even though he ADMITTED she was right.
Absolutely childish behavior!



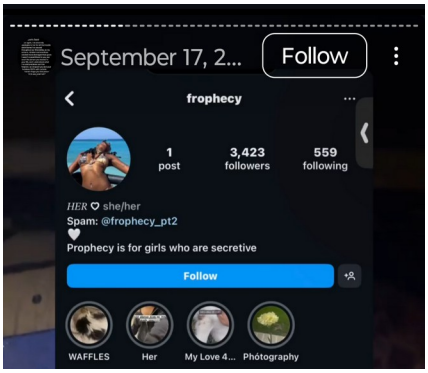
(The highlight for reference, literally the only place he's ever mentioned.)

Response to Royalsniz:

Not too long after I had posted my callouts on Lance, victims of his started to roll in and shared their stories of him being extremely pushy, targeting teenagers, and short tempered.
After a few days he finally responded with an array of insta stories.



(Stories in question, no he's never taken these down so you watch them in full here if you so choose.)



His response starts directly here (the 16th story in particular).

1) Lance claims everyone is lying but shows no counter evidence.
2) Lance yells at the camera and repeatedly says everyone involved is stupid, gullible, and deserving of harm.
3) He claims that literally everything shown is out of context and we didn't “really” know what was going on (although I don't know in what context telling a teenager 6 years younger than you, that she's “matured well” would ever not look creepy).
4) He directly tells his audience to harass and go after the victims who weren't anonymous (I did check in with them and luckily they were not actually contacted.)
5) And then he threatens to hurt me and everyone else against him.

It's actually pretty concerning just how much he rambled on and on about basically nothing for several minutes. The vast majority of his response is legit impossible to respond to for this reason.

Although there are three parts in particular I can actually address and directly call him out on as they have some coherence.

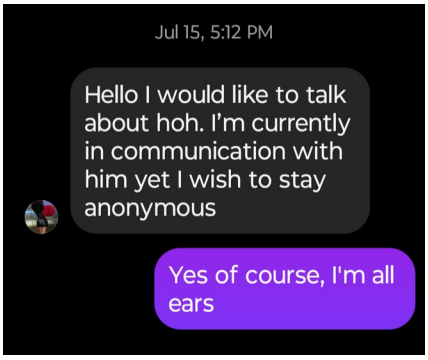
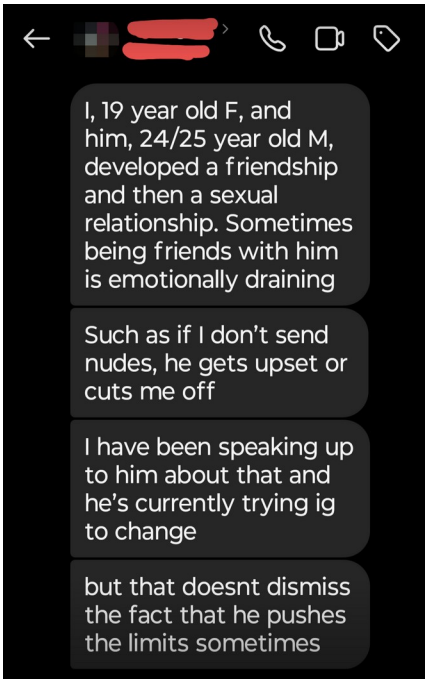
was your personal pleasure yes?
Shit was cute when it was flirty n sexual but the most you know is that I'm an artist and I got a brother
You didnt have no interest in getting to know me truly?
I ain't say allat but there was no attempt to bond w me, you was just tryna be someone for me that I could rely on, but it ain't feel that way n that's fine
I never cared for you being an artist, I genuinely wanted to know you, But you being like this
Im older than you n you got a lot of shit to prioritize in terms of your mental health and school or family, focus onnat
You saying this but still wanted to interact with me
Part 2 from the first user who spoke about their history with Halos.
These are their more recent messages where he essentially admits he was only there for the flirting and sexual favors and didn't want a real relationship with the person.
What's worse is he mentions that he's older and that they should focus on themself. Weird how a sexual relationship with a teenager is fine but a real friendship isn't because of their age.

At the end of this story in particular (and briefly spoken about in another) Lance claims she only accused him of sexual harassment after he blocked her but this is not true.



Jul 15, 5:12 PM
Hello I would like to talk about hoh. I'm currently in communication with him yet I wish to stay anonymous
Yes of course, I'm all ears



I, 19 year old F, and him, 24/25 year old M, developed a friendship and then a sexual relationship. Sometimes being friends with him is emotionally draining
Such as if I don't send nudes, he gets upset or cuts me off
I have been speaking up to him about that and he's currently trying ig to change but that doesnt dismiss the fact that he pushes the limits sometimes

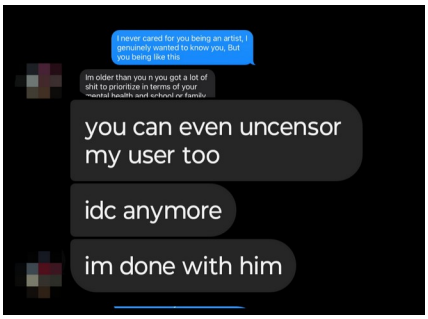
As seen here, when the victim first contacted me she actually wanted to be anonymous and only spoke up because she believed if he was faced with his actions, he'd try to improve and change as a person. She was literally still his friend. None of this was for "clout" or to "get at him". She really believed he could change and didn't want to end the friendship despite how he treated her.



It wasn't till here, when they have that argument (where he admits she's young and only cared about their sexual interactions) that she didn't care for her anonymity any longer.

So Lance is making up this whole story to paint a victim as clout chasing because he doesn't have anything else to put against her.

A new victim has come forward with their own experiences with Halos (Lance).
Yet another teenager too. Crazy how he claims his little model shoots had to be 20+ but he certainly doesn't mind being sexual with teens if they're not his models- like what? What flawed and weird logic.
Genuinely what the actual fuc k are these comments of his?

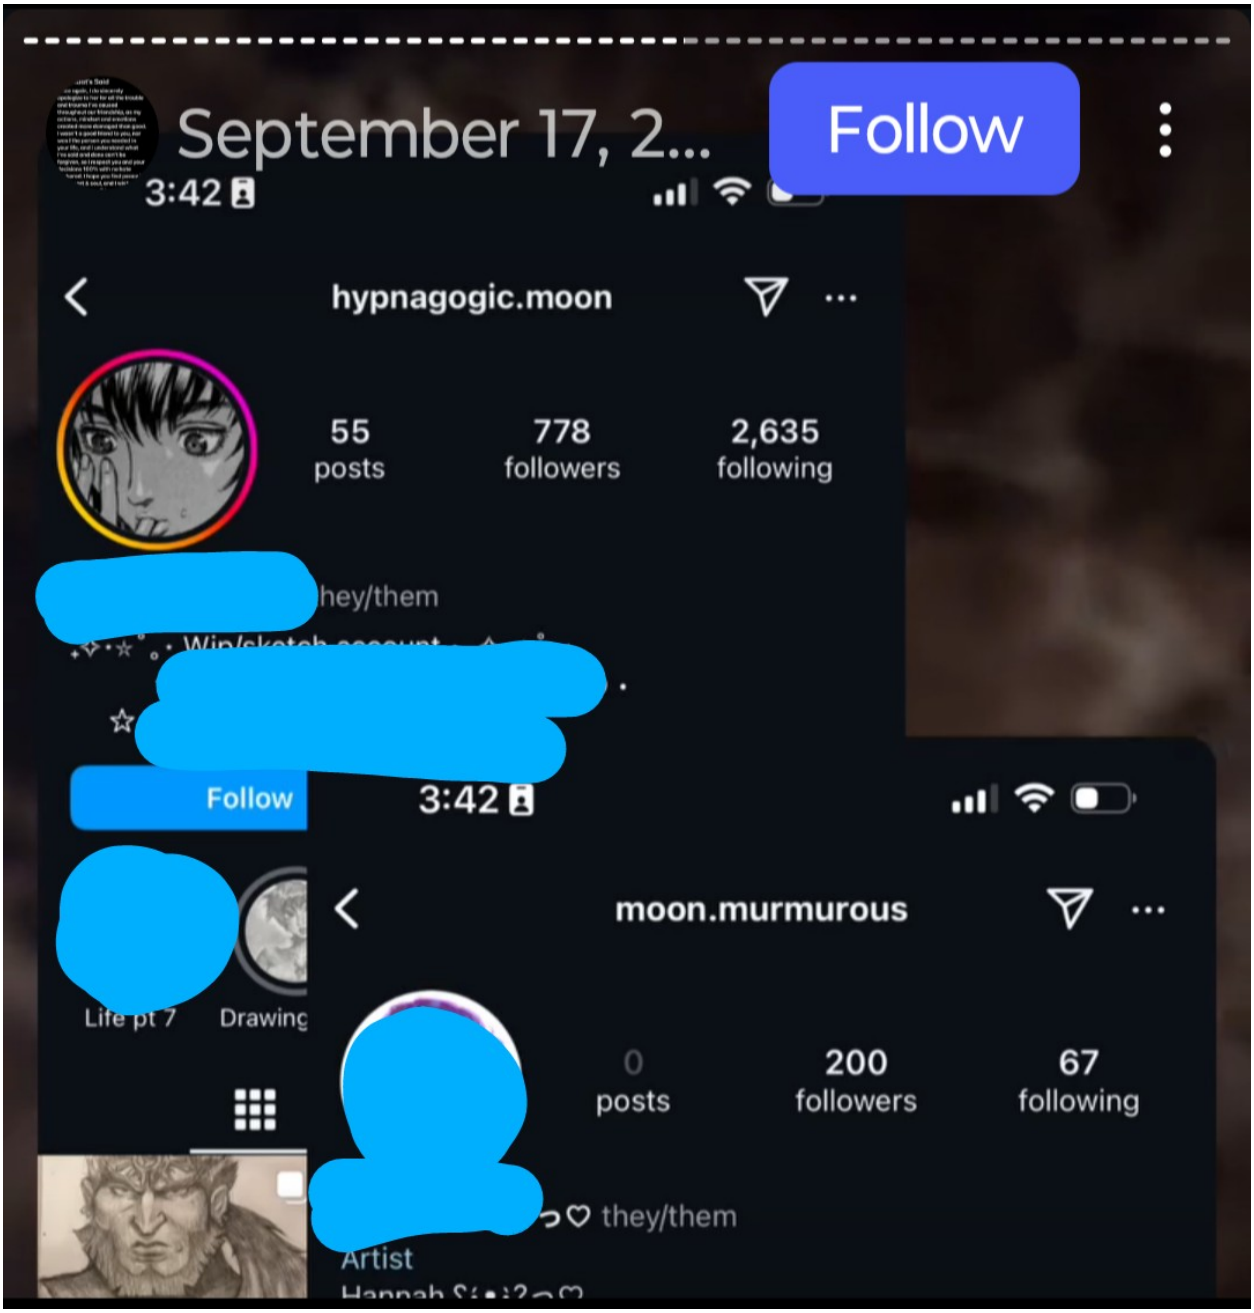
In this story, Lance blatantly confuses this DIFFERENT VICTIM as the exact same girl before even though you can see he has a screenshot up where I claim it's someone else entirely.



This is actually more of a string of stories about this victim in particular but I want to address them as one.

Lance, even though their pronouns are plainly in the screencaps he has up, misgenders Hannah- repeatedly and does NOT care, and yeh I think this is unacceptable for a guy who's claimed to be a trans ally and has even made comics about the trans experience. (No, the mistake excuse doesn't work here- their pronouns are RIGHT THERE in his face.)

He also goes on and on about them being a liar but one part in particular he accidentally admits as truth. He says that they claimed he flirted with them and spoke about their body and I quote “yet there was ample time to block me and confront me and tell me to stop.”
So, quite plainly, Lance is admitting he tried to get with a 14 year old and that they're actually at fault because why didn't they just block him.

This is disgusting. Lance states he would've been close to 18 here. He was the much older one, HE knew better. Blaming a child for not cutting you off for being creepy and next level insanity.
Also claiming the only reason they're lying is because if they actually had a problem they would've done something about it?
They don't even state that they had a problem with it in the screencap, just recognizing the age gap between the two of you.

For reference I did publicly give, through my own platform, Lance full permission to share whatever this said info “was” as I genuinely have no idea what he's referring to here.

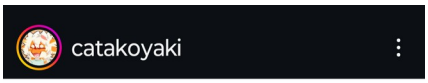
Nov 2, 7:37 PM
Hey this might be a weird ask but are you still in contact with him?
He accused me of having nasty secrets or something
This genuinely confused me as I have no idea what he's talking about
I tried to mention it publicly as said he can reveal whatever it is if he so chooses
But he won't say or mention it again
Pretty sure he made it up but there's a chance he didn't and an abuser or mine contacted him

I even asked a victim I had believed still had his contact, if they could tell Lance that I want him to be forward with whatever it is as that's a very serious claim to make against someone especially without explanation as I can't even defend myself as I don't know what it is.

But nothing since has come “to light”.
I will though, briefly mention that in 2021 I was accused of being a “pedophile” by a child groomer online. She tried to claim that my relationship with my ex (who was 17) was inappropriate because I was an adult (I was 18). I then called her back out for grooming multiple minors and deflecting onto me, and she eventually admitted to her own actions in a post.

Q insisted that we continue being friends privately. I didn't realize right away that this was a problem, as I had been encouraged by peers and older adults to share nsfw art from when I was 15.

This is not an excuse for my behavior, but is a reason to why I failed to set boundaries and cut off contact immediately.
I have since realized how unsafe, immoral and inappropriate those kinds of interactions are and that being exposed to sexual content as a minor is not acceptable and should not be normalized.



In October of 2021, circumstances made it so that I was able to have a conversation with K. As soon as I realized I was lied to and that my words and violent speech had harmed another's mental health, I felt immense regret.

We both agreed to take down the posts about each other, and I wrote and posted a lengthy apology with context on my story.

(I am the K person to note.) Yeh, she does water down her actions here quite a bit but at least she admits that the claims against me had no merit.

So besides this stupid accusation, while proven false, has been following me around for years- there are no "skeletons" of mine.

Response to Royalsniz 3:

Very recently Lance had returned to Twitter and posted a comic that went pretty viral overnight.
I saw this and shared the Twitter version of my callout on him.

He then responded to me directly in the comments as I did not have him blocked as that would make it harder to spread my callout around.

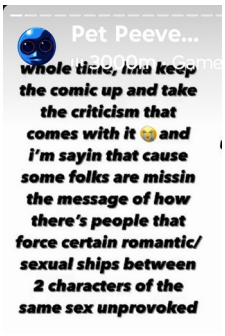
It is sexual harassment, sexually pressuring a women to do anything she doesn't want IS harassment. (Like stripping.)

He more or less repeats himself from previous responses.

He's changed/ trying to change but simultaneously hasn't actually hurt anyone, shocker.
He seems to have a fundamental misunderstanding on what sexual harassment is and doesn't think pressuring another person into a sexual act they don't want to do, is just that.
He also threatens me yet again and claims that the girls that came to me actually came back to him (but they were anonymous so there's no way he'd know who) and that I don't know the full story. Exact same response.

Response to Homophobic comic:

Lance's response to this event in particular was actually made into a story highlight so the screencaps will be a bit chopped.



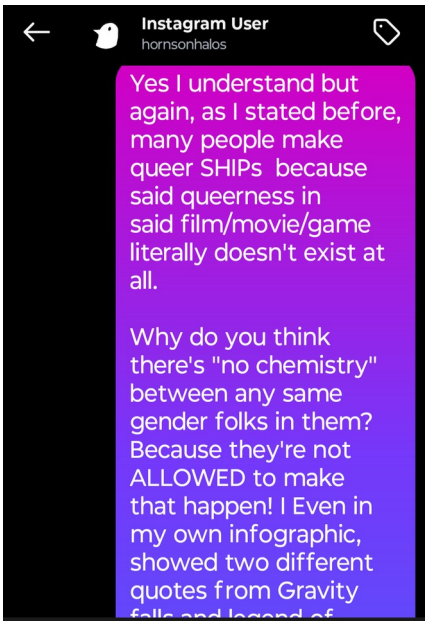
This reply again only solidifies to me that he doesn't even understand what the word shipping means.

All ships are non-canon, that's the point of the term. To put two characters together that aren't together in the said media they come from. Sometimes they do become canon but oftentimes they're not.

Outside of a clearly homophobic lense I also don't understand the issue with this?
Shipping two characters of the same sex doesn't cause any harm or promote anything dangerous. The only difference is the two consenting characters are the same rather than the opposite sex.

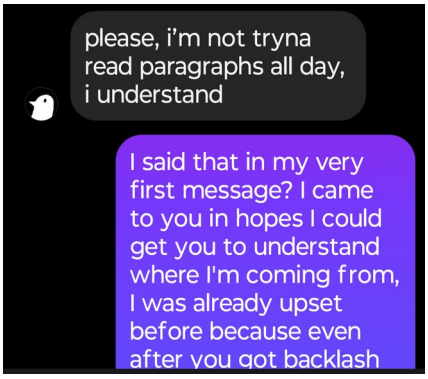
I didn't address this in the first mention of his homophobic comic but for a lot of queer fandom don't just ship characters of the same gender together because it's fun, but also because of the lack of representation.
Most people understand that queer rep even now is still very small compared to that of straight coupling within fandom. Not just that but several show creators have come out about how the producers/ director board forced them to either hide or completely remove any and all queerness from their creations.

Lance KNOWS this too by the way, because that's WHY I contacted him over his comic.



Instagram User
hornsonhalos
Yes I understand but again, as I stated before, many people make queer SHIPs because said queerness in said film/movie/game literally doesn't exist at all.
Why do you think there's "no chemistry" between any same gender folks in them? Because they're not ALLOWED to make that happen! I Even in my own infographic, showed two different quotes from Gravity

But he didn't care, he never even responded to this explanation. He just wanted me to take down my post.



please, i'm not tryna read paragraphs all day, i understand
I said that in my very first message? I came to you in hopes I could get you to understand where I'm coming from, I was already upset before because even after you got backlash

So no matter what Lance tries to add onto his opinion, as he stated himself, he just doesn't like when people "ship same sex characters unprovoked" and to me and most other queer people, is homophobic.

addin the proshipper term prolly took folks off guard if they don't know the full definition, so i slick failed at tryna kill 2 birds with 1 stone, but either way, a fat majority of yall understood what i was gettin at n that's all i give a fuck about tbh it wasn't to talk down on queer folks or be homophobic but i'll take one to da chin if i got to cause i ain't a bitch

Second part to the same story and yeh he is in fact admitting that he was calling queer shippers, proshippers.

He tried to excuse this by going "well I meant the FULL definition of proship" which is someone who doesn't care about what is or is not shipped and thinks all forms of shipping is fine.
But that still doesn't work?

Someone in fandom shipping two people of the same gender, isn't a proshipper. They'd have to be ok with ALL SHIP TYPES to be considered a proshipper. If they like queer shipping but then hate and call-out individuals who ship incest or pedophilia, then they're not a proshipper.
Lance just wants to throw queer ships into the same building as actually immoral shipping pairs.

Again here he is calling everyone who disagrees with him, a proshipper.
He thinks queer shippers are proshippers and are just as bad as those who ship incest, zoo, necro, and whatever else he can think of.

EVEN MORE CRITICISMS:
(THERE ARE THOUSANDS OF THESE SIMILAR RESPONSES)
honest question do you see nothing wrong with comparing a normal non canon gay ship to literal incest
I get what this comic is trying to say
There are dynamics like found family and stuff like that really do not need to be romantic. Sometimes two people go great together, just not as a couple.
... However, as long as it ain't something objectively reprehensible, shut up
The jump between "all shipping is gross" and "proshipping is gross" was so fast it gave me whiplash
Not to be a nerd or anything, but the term "shipping" (relationshipping) was coined in the 90's to specifically refer to a ship that WASN'T canon that you would like to see BECOME canon, this is just wrong outside of any personal bias
If your issue is that people push romantic ships too much, how about instead of telling people to quit shipping, you encourage people to share their queer platonic ships?
sincerely,
tired aromantic fandom veteran
Only someone as disgusting as you can twist harmless queer shipping into LITERAL INCEST
How people like this feel after putting innocent fanboys and fangirls next to literal PROSHITTERS
Shipping isn't a problem if it's not proshipping . You can not like shipping, but putting harmless ships next to PEDOPHILIA IS WEIRDDDDD BROOO

As shown in my original post about his comic, there was criticism from MANY users who detest proshipping.
He was blatantly pretending folks like me didn't exist to paint a nasty narrative about queer shippers.
That is manipulative.

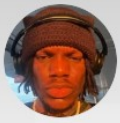
Response to Homophobic comic 2.0:

This response is specifically from Lance's newest version of his comic, where instead of implying queer shippers are predators he implies they're just oppressing straight folks.



hornson... 23m Follow

Last thing I'll add on about the comic is that I knew how most people would reaction to the hot take of someone "being the reason somebody turns homophobic", as if people can't develop a dislike for someone/ group of people after a series of bad experiences ✌🥺 YES some people have internalized homophobia, but some people genuinely do grow to dislike people after a certain about of times, then eventually associate that person's personality to a designated group

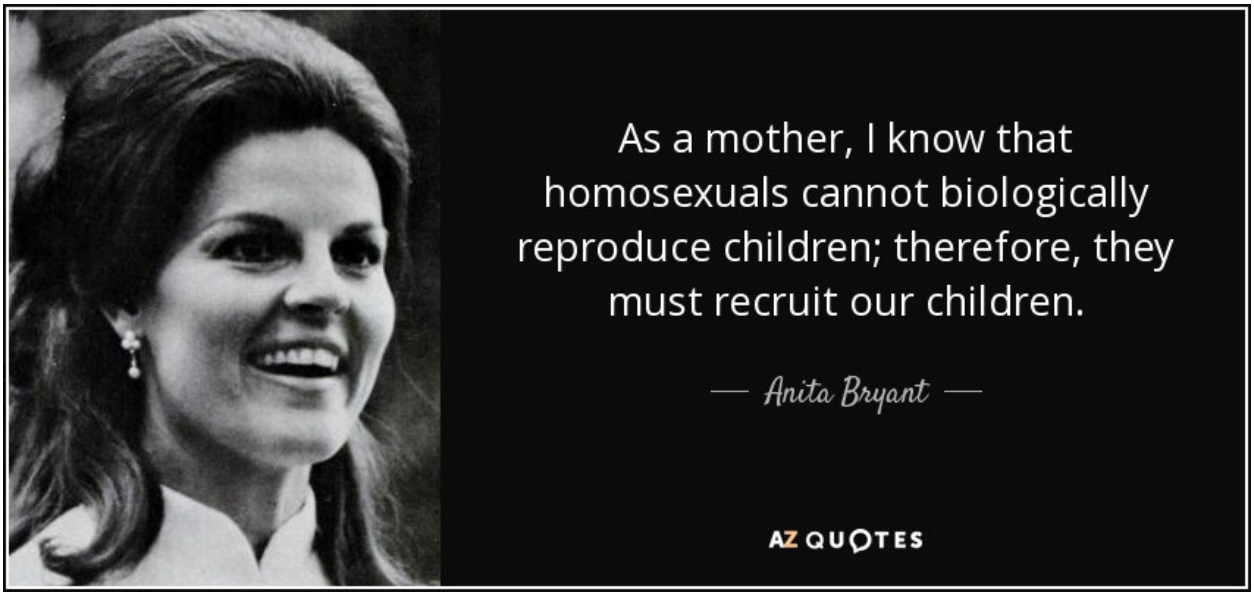
It's literally why stereotypes are developed, and people just assume certain groups of people act a certain way, and this goes into race, gender, sexualities, skintone, body types, zodiacs, living environments and summore shit 🤷🏾‍♀️ so it shouldn't seem unlikely that there's people in fandoms who've dealt with toxic people in their respected communities and later assumed that everyone else acts like that if they notice patterns

It can't be dismissed that other's ignorance can breed more ignorance, and they dismiss their own behavior by blaming

All of these are just excuses.

For one, the folks complaining weren't claiming that people can't become bigoted over bad interactions with some queer folks, just that there is no excuse for their bigotry. Even if that explains WHY someone is a homophobe it doesn't excuse their homophobia therefore the explanation ultimately doesn't matter.
Two, he's getting the term “internalized homophobic” mixed up here. Internalized homophobia is a queer only experience. It's when a queer person hates themselves/ their own queerness. This can lead to outwardly hate but not always and is being inappropriately used here. At least it looks that way.
Three, Lance seems to misunderstand the history behind stereotypes as well. While it is true that some stereotypes are built off of misunderstandings, this is not the main reason most exist. They are in fact orchestrated by hate groups purposely to dehumanize the groups they want to keep rights from.

One of these Lance actually spread around himself with his first comic. The idea that LGBT individuals are predators. In the 1960s several major anti LGBT groups spent thousands on their hate campaigns (including real ads) to push the idea that queer people were grooming kids and praying on innocent straight folks.



As a mother, I know that homosexuals cannot biologically reproduce children; therefore, they must recruit our children.
— Anita Bryant —
AZ QUOTES

They were deathly afraid of homosexuality being legalized so these campaigns were their best bet. None of this was accidental or due some silly misunderstanding, it was created.

This response of his just further proves to me that Lance shouldn't be speaking on these topics as he regularly misunderstands and misrepresents them within his comics. (Sometimes on purpose too.)

Look at how they treated me! I'm the victim here!
I believe in magic, but the bullies at school don't.
what a dumb hat

This part in particular is really silly as later on he claims this character is supposed to be a villain but keeps painting him as a victim who's in the “right” for killing children.

Are you telling me that EVERY Artist & Creator are glorifying acts of violence shown as a concept in a fictional setting? Would you show this much concern if the weapon of choice and setting was different when there's so many characters that do way worse on greater scales?
This is a serial killer.
I'm Killer Kam.
ON SET
Sweepin' by a Pond.
You're glorifying serial killers in your movie!? CANCEL HIM!

No, they aren't. You're glorifying school shootings because you are painting your character as in the right and that his string of murders are justified because they were “bad people”. You in fact literally do just this at the beginning of your response.

There's a huge difference between simply having villain characters and glorifying/ justifying the violence they cause.
There is no foil to this character. No police force. No repercussions. No punishment.
Lance created a shooter character for fun because he thinks it's cool, but knows that's an insensitive thing to do so instead he excuses his own actions and deflects blame. (Like he always does.)

See what I mean by deflecting blame? He's making a huge assumption here by claiming all his critics are the “real” hypocrites.

This is an ad hominem fallacy. He is attacking the character of his critics instead of actually defending his stances.

Also, those characters are not glorified in the story. The writers very clearly paint them as bad people whose actions are deplorable and are (usually) defeated by the hero.

This is 101 storytelling Lance.

hornsonhalos
Right, you said you sexualize them because you find them attractive and would let them assault you if they were real? I honestly wonder why?

Like WHO is he speaking to here? This is just another fallacy argument.

Yes, there are some people who think this but I'm pretty sure many of his critics also DON'T hold these opinions so generalizing thousands of people is really silly.

Also I'm starting to think Lance doesn't actually watch anything he talks about because- Venom isn't a villain? (At least not in the films, where this image is from) He's an anti hero that sacrifices his own life for his friend and to save the planet. (Spoilers I know but I think it's genuinely insane to throw in a character like that next to rapist #1 and #2.)

hornsonhalos
If the actions of a villain make you feel uneasy, the creator did a great job making a bad villain. Does it make you uncomfortable because it's realistic? Isn't that the point of a well-written villain and not just because they're a "menace" or "crash out"?

But Lance's character isn't realistic. There are little to no cases of school shooters walking away from their crimes with no punishment and then tag teaming with a serial killer for fun.
School shooters being the victims of bullying isn't exactly as common as you think either, many were actually perpetrators before they even killed anyone. There are actual studies that have proved many shooters are actually bigots who killed because they felt justified to in their bigotry or were violent themselves.

Let female villains be villains without being horny + sexualizing them. You cannot fix her, and she is not your Mommy.

This has nothing to do with the criticism against him and he's again throwing this in to portray his critics as gross or creepy.

And AGAIN he threw in two anti hero characters within a list of very obvious villains.
Pink diamond and Maleficent are not the villains of their stories. They can be considered antagonists (which is not the same thing) but they are very clearly written to be obstacles of sorts to the other characters rather than villains actively trying to harm people because they're "evil".

For a guy who runs his platform on stories about complex situations and people, he really loves to paint them all under one evil brush whenever he's criticized in any way.
Even if it's by accident he does this three separate times and it's annoying.

This image in particular has pissed a LOT of people off, and for good reason.

It's hypocritical.

Lance is playing the “it's just fiction” card but he himself has also claimed that fiction does affect reality and that fictional ships he doesn't like are problematic.

Why is glorifying murder and abuse ok but not incest or pedophilia?

Of course I believe rampant glorification of any above can cause harm, but Lance picking and choosing which matters whenever he feels like it just breaks apart his whole argument and makes his stances on these topics super fickle.

Rules for thee and not for me all over again.

I can't defend my behavior and how I spoke with them since I spoke to them flirtatiously when giving compliments or spoke to them affectionately as someone I cared for and joked with, so I hold myself accountable for interacting with them that way I had & I apologize to

(This one is about the 14 year old he spoke with when he was 18)

Zenji was the last person amongst those that came out about me, and around July 21st of this year, he & I had a 1 on 1 conversation in DMs to address the time we spoke last year when I was 24 going on 25 & they were 17 in late 2024 before their birthday in December when they turned 18. Once we spoke and addressed everything, I personally apologized to him for interacting with them the way I did and asked him how he felt about it all mentally & emotionally, and we made up and kept it cordial. Out of respect for their privacy, Zenji is free to show our full conversation regarding what we spoke on, and I hold myself accountable for my actions, my mistakes & my behavior during the

(And this one is about the 17 year old he spoke with when he was 24)

As you can tell, he is extremely vague with both as is his apology. He asked these people for nude photos of their bodies when they were under 18 which is legally considered CSEM in every state in the US and in most other countries as well.
It's also concerning that he mentions them “leaving things off on good terms” which as I feared, means Lance doesn't understand even now, that minors cannot consent. Them having nice and kind and him the same isn't consent as they are legally under that age and mentally too. Bringing up how well his relationship with them was does not negate the harm he caused being an adult with power and more maturity than said minors.
This response has also directly led to a few of his followers contacting me actually defending his predatory actions. This is why watering down serious situations harms victims. He should've been more clear on what he did and how it was wrong, especially legally, but he wasn't.

Although at least it confirms to everyone that those victims weren't lying and he did act inappropriately with them when he was an adult.

General responses:

These will be the responses of his that aren't exactly tied to one specific critique he's gotten and are more vague in their vitriol.
Although, I will explain what I personally believe he is speaking about under each post for context.

What's wrong with you and all these comics you've been posting? Why are you doing this to yourself? You look bad!!!

It's simply because I don't care what y'all say to me. I don't know any of y'all.
Excuse me? You made a public post so I had the right to give my public opinion. I'm right.

I don't know y'all outside this app, and even if I did, I'd prolly punch you in the mouth if you came up to me just to press me about this dumb social media bullshit.
You're so violent! Even though you took a break offline, you clearly haven't changed since we still antagonize you about your actions and post! You're disgusting!

There's people talkin' mad shit about me, but have the nastiest secrets they vowed to take to the grave, yet they finally feel like their voice matters to judge a man they never knew to begin with.
Even if you admitted to all this fucked up shit, all our backlash and projections is justified!

This response seems to be referencing comics of his where he out right admitted to some of his heinous actions and is upset with the backlash.

Instead of curating his comment section or responding in a story, he creates posts over almost every time he's spoken about negativity by others.
And while I believe replying to criticism even with posts of your own, is valid, Lance never really has any well thought out replies?

They usually consist of “no you”, “I'm going to hurt you”, “I don't care you're just a number/stranger to me” or all three. These of course are poor counters and don't actually disprove the criticism thrown his way, only to paint his critics as no different.
And even if they were, that doesn't make their criticism suddenly invalid.

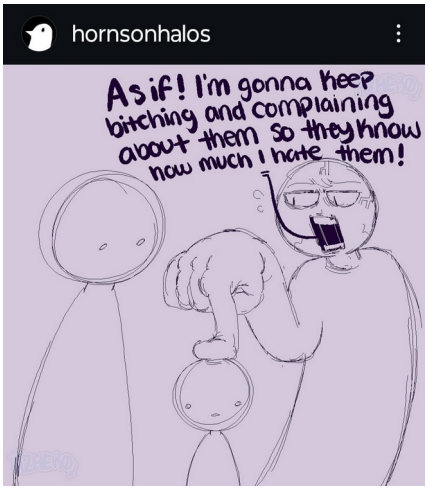
LUCKI · After
I forget most of these people came to me are already mentally ill, depressed, or having some type of attachment issues before they met me, yet I believe I'm capable of helping them effectively by my own will.
Me
You

Again another “No you” situation which doesn't take away that he has harmed other people.

He attempted to make a post about how mean the Internet is but fumbled mid way through and accidentally revealed he's just speaking about himself here, and I already went over in length as to why his shooter comic was poorly written and insensitive so there's not much to add.



Again he's just vaguely speaking about himself.
The reason these posts are manipulative is because he is being extremely inexplicit to push the narrative that everyone speaking up against him are just big old meanies bullying poor innocent Lance.
He's trying to appeal to people's sympathy here while keeping his audience in the dark about WHY these said criticisms are happening.

It's annoying.

There's 1 person that doesn't like this 1 person with the the platform, and we'll never know why, but their actions & words reach out to this 1 person they dislike, expressing their self hate through ignorance, insecurity and disrespect.

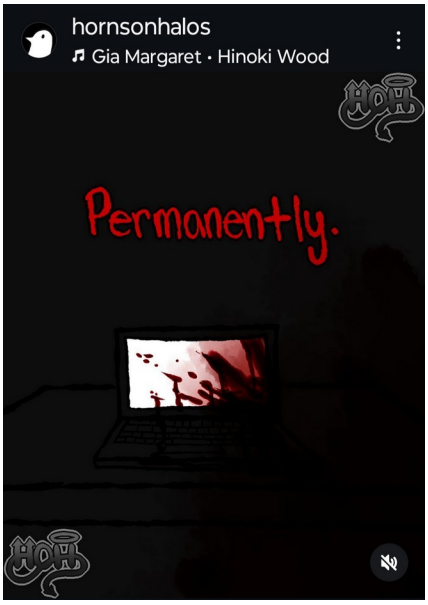
Soon, this 1 person began to see a wave of negative comments, sent by many different people, they were all 1 person, banded in unison just to come together to attack + harass 1 person.



Yes, this does sound exactly like you think.
A self harm threat. Essentially, if you criticize him, he might harm himself and it would be your fault.

Another nasty post in the sea of “I'm going to manipulate my audience into feeling bad for me” content of his that really pisses me off.
This is childish behavior. He claims he's gonna hurt himself if others keep speaking about him but simultaneously also threatens to hurt others and waters down the actions he committed towards women.

No, I don't think so. I know I get MAD. I'm SCARY and AGGRESSIVE, sometimes. I know I make them so Nervous... they're afraid to talk to me me me
I don't think it's right for me to try answering that question. I've hurt many.
hurt people
hurt people
I'm good at what I do.

He is once again admitting he's hurt people. Point blank. That's it.

I'd say he's being honest here but I wouldn't be surprised if weeks from now he'd then deny that he's hurt anyone.

Why do you VENT so much through your art & stories?
I'm looking for pity & sympathy because I'm a bad person seeking validation & forgiveness from strangers, my audience. They can relate, but their guilt is quiet. They understand, they want what's best for me. I feel safe.
I'm good at what I do.

Similar thing spoken here. He admits he does this because he's a bad person that wants pity from strangers. Remember, he said this, not me.

I say this because like he has before, he will claim I'm “taking things out of context” or “painting him negatively”.

Why do you talk like that when you're upset???
I'm short tempered, I hate feeling misunderstood. I'm childish when things don't go my way, so I'll lash out or stonewall.

Another similar confession.

Are you possessive?
I like to brand people. I love to write my name on their bodies. They love to feel owned and I love to own them. It's a mutual agreement, but they're free to do whatever they like. They know where home is.

This is a misogynist way of viewing women. He thinks of women as objects and he's not safe to be around.
He even tries to immediately excuse this by claiming that “well they consented to it” as if that suddenly makes his misogyny ok, and as the victims have explained, it isn't even true.

Since Lance decided to do something extremely stupid I'll be addressing it here.
Lance tried to do his own “call-out” of sorts on one of the victims. I'm still a bit confused by what he was trying to do because he completely ignored the claim that he was sexually inappropriate with them as a minor and goes straight to the harassment claim which he also confuses.
Either way he tried to prove himself by pretty much doxxing not just the victim but everyone else within the group chats he had access to.

While scrolling through these chats, photos of strangers and their family members, full legal names, extremely personal conversations, personal emails, and more is revealed.
There was absolutely no reason to do this. Not only was it extremely embarrassing for the victim, folks completely unrelated to the situation had to get involved and directly context Lance to ask him to take this callout down.

What I'll be showing will be heavily censored due the nature of what I'm sharing but remember, he didn't do this. He didn't care.

Oh word
My fault Mike, I ain't expect Hannah to lie on me the way she did, so I was just tryna be thorough with everything seen n mentioned

(Hannah is Moon btw, the first victim- he again is misgendering them here. This is like the 10th time.)

This screenshot is actually from one of the uninvolved people he showed the personal information of. They even send him a screenshot of his own call-out where all their personal emails are shown (and own of them has their irl face as an icon).

There unfortunately was a lot more shown but I couldn't grab most of it due to him deleting it a few hours after the backlash. (Also some of the images are people venting about trauma and abuse so I don't think it's appropriate for me to even show them censored.)
Not only did this prove absolutely nothing, it lead to (Mikey) getting Lance to admit he did in fact share porn on this private Instagram of his where he added several minors.

This account he posted anyway (spam) and this isn't the Snapchat one I'm talking about but his spam which he originally just posted memes on and then

(The accusation)

Hannah "lying" on you isn't an excuse, you should know better than that
For the record I also remember you posting porn on your snap back in high school
But I think you have more pressing matters to worry about
Why is "lying" in quotations like she didn't lie and I'm not making this response in the first place
Replied to you
For the record I also remember you posting porn on your snap back in high school... more (Again with the misgendering.) As you can see he apologizes, not because he recognizes it's inappropriate but only because it came back to “bite him in the ass”. He feels no remorse for spamming porn for minors to see.

And here's evidence that the account did indeed have porn on it.

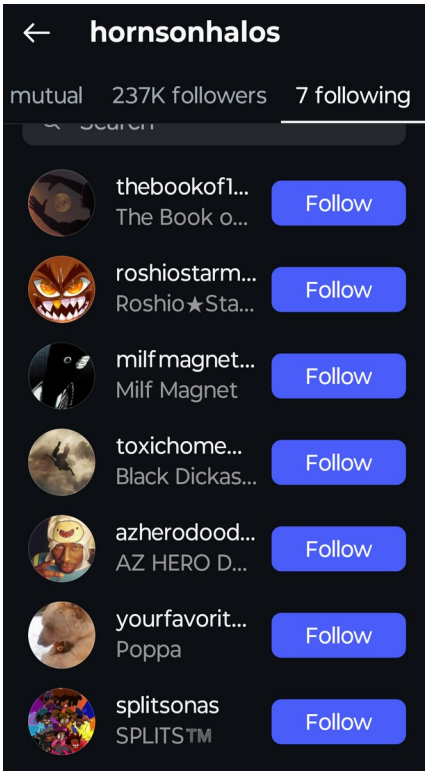
So that is his most up to date reply to backlash.

Conclusion:

Because this has been a long repeated process with Lance, there's nothing I really care to ask from the guy.
If he does apologize, there's a huge chance he'll take it back a week later and re-upload everything like he has in the past, and even then I don't care to nor is it my responsibility/place to accept his apology. I am not one of his victims, just someone who's been in their shoes.

This document purely exists to inform and dismantle the disinformation that's been widely spread about this man and his actions. Anything that isn't directly addressed within this document, hasn't been confirmed and you shouldn't blindly spread it around. I want Lance to be held accountable for the things he actually has done.

I don't think Lance should have a platform and that's my final opinion. He's abused and misused it over and over again and regularly targeted fans for either harassment or potential sexual encounters. He has admitted he sees his audience as digits and likes to use them.
Someone like this should not have a large platform.



These are all accounts either fully or partly owned by Lance. To my knowledge other platforms usually use a variation of Hornsonhalos or Azhero.

If you have anything you'd like to add or if you believe you might be a victim of Hornsonhalos, please contact this email address or DM the Royalsnis Twitter account.
